JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 10.—Consideration by the Missouri Legislature of impeachment proceedings against Circuit Judge Itner as a result of the disclosures tending to show he gave blank bail bonds signed in advance to professional bondsmen, will depend largely upon whether formal action is taken by the Bar Association of St. Louis or the other Circuit Judges, in the opinion of several lawyer members of the Legislature, who have been interviewed by the Post-Dispatch.

Details of the freeing of prisoners on bonds purporting to be signed with Judge Itner's name on days when the Judge was absent from St. Louis have been read with interest by a number of members of the Legislature. The general opinion expressed was that "St. Louis should take care of its own" and that in the absence of formal presentation of a request for an investigation the Legislature would take no action.

"Disgrace If True, Says Roney." Thomas J. Roney, Representative from Jasper County, has been the loudest follower of the disclosures "if any considerable part of the information published regarding Judge Itner is correct," Roney said. "St. Louis is a disgrace to the State so long as it permits Judge Itner to remain on the bench. It is unthinkable that the personal liberties and the property rights of the people of the State should be placed in the hands of a man who has such little regard for the proprieties as to turn over to professional bondsmen bonds signed in blank under which any sort of criminal could be released. The effect of that sort of thing is to delegate to some individual who is not under oath and who is not under official obligation, one of the duties of a judicial officer. "While, of course, I cannot speak for the Legislature, I do not think, however, that the House of Representatives would be disposed to impeach a man who kept the State in the absence of some formal complaint. There remains less than six weeks of the session of the Legislature and the time of the members is occupied with legislation."

Calls Other Judges Responsible. "There are other Circuit Judges in St. Louis, and it seems to me they should be sufficiently interested in cleaning the stain from the judicial ermine to take the steps necessary to bring the matter to the attention of the Legislature in a formal way. Certainly they must demand that the bench in St. Louis cannot stand very high in the opinion of lawyers throughout the State so long as it permits a condition to exist without which it can't go to correct it."

"In the absence of action of the bar Association, it would seem the Legislature would well give the subject its attention. "While the whole public has a real interest in preserving the integrity of the bench, the real obligation falls upon the Judges and lawyers. If they are not sufficiently interested, they can hardly blame the public for losing confidence in the bench and bar. "Under the Constitution," he said, "the House of Representatives has the sole power to impeach and all impeachments must be tried by the Senate. "Under the Constitution," he said, "the House of Representatives has the sole power to impeach and all impeachments must be tried by the Senate. "Under the Constitution," he said, "the House of Representatives has the sole power to impeach and all impeachments must be tried by the Senate."

House Must Bring Action. "The law, impeachment of Circuit Judge must officially be taken in the House of Representatives. The House is charged with the duty of bringing the impeachment, and the Senate with the duty of trying the case."

Many called attention to the constitutional provisions governing impeachment of Circuit Judges. "Under the Constitution," he said, "the House of Representatives has the sole power to impeach and all impeachments must be tried by the Senate. "Under the Constitution," he said, "the House of Representatives has the sole power to impeach and all impeachments must be tried by the Senate."

PAYS $50,000 JUDGMENT
FOR BREACH OF PROMISE

J. W. Hubbard's Counsel Hands
Check to Lawyers for Anne Caldwell, Actress.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 10.—The Hubbard-Caldwell breach of promise case was settled today when counsel for John W. Hubbard, wealthy manufacturer, handed a check for $50,000 to attorneys representing Miss Anne Caldwell, New York musical comedy actress. The sum represented the damages awarded Miss Caldwell by a jury. The manufacturer made arrangements to turn over the check yesterday, but withheld it until love letters, produced in evidence by Miss Caldwell, were turned over to him.

The settlement came as a surprise, for Hubbard had announced he would ask the United States Court of Appeals for a new trial after a similar motion was denied. Miss Caldwell sued for $500,000, alleging that the manufacturer proposed marriage to her in Atlantic City, but later refused to wed her. The jury found that a marriage contract existed, and, in arriving at the $50,000 damage award, the jurors were written down and divided by 12. In addition to the $50,000 turned over to Miss Caldwell's attorneys today, Hubbard paid the court costs with interest amounting to $244.

First Trip of Kind by Commercial Physician, Journey
From Detroit to Dayton.

By the Associated Press.
DAYTON, O., Feb. 10.—The first flight of its kind in commercial aviation, ended shortly after noon today, when a tri-motored Stout all-metal plane, carrying eight passengers, landed at McCook Field.

On the trip from Detroit, the plane was guided solely by radio beacons which have proved successful in operation of army and navy planes, but which have never been used for commercial ships. Beacons which keep the plane on its course between Detroit and Dayton were operated both from McCook Field and Detroit. The success of the flight is believed to presage the inauguration of a commercial passenger and freight air line between Detroit and Cincinnati, with a stop at Dayton.

Included among the passengers was Dr. W. B. Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford Airplane Co., and W. B. Stout, designer and builder of the plane.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Mail order houses sold fewer goods last month than in January, 1926, while five and 10 cent chain stores and 539 department and other retail stores on which data was available showed increased sales. The Federal Reserve Board announced. Sales increased in seven Federal reserve districts, with the greatest gain in San Francisco, 3.4 per cent, and Cleveland second, followed by Boston and New York. With the exception of the Philadelphia district, where they were 4.4 per cent smaller, sales were larger in all Eastern districts and in the Chicago and San Francisco districts. They were practically unchanged in the Atlanta district and smaller in the St. Louis, Dallas, Minneapolis and Richmond districts.

GRAND JURY SUBPENAS
WILLIAM T. FINDLY

Takes Up Speech About "Pre-War Stuff" at Capital He Says Was Made in Fun.

The Cole County grand jury at Jefferson City today issued a subpoena for William T. Findly, secretary of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, who yesterday, at a luncheon of the Chamber, made jocular remarks about "pre-war stuff" and the need for "copper-lined stomachs" at the capital. Findly was in Jefferson City Tuesday with a delegation of St. Louis business men, urging passage of the budget and department consolidation bill of the Missouri Association for Economy in Public Expenditures.

The issuance of the subpoena for Findly followed a discussion in the lower House of the Legislature, in which several members spoke in reply to Findly's reported remarks. Some members took the remarks as an insult calling for an apology, while others treated the matter more lightly, and said Findly must have strayed into bad company in Jefferson City.

While it is certain that Findly, if he appears before the grand jury, will be asked to tell what he knows about the sale of liquor in Jefferson City, it is not known just why the grand jury, at the same time, issued subpoenas for all the metropolitan newspaper correspondents in Jefferson City. The summoning of the correspondents might also relate to liquor sales, or it might conceivably mean an inquiry into some department under the State government, such as the penitentiary.

Findly said today that his utterance was intended wholly in a humorous vein, and was not meant for publication. He was quoted as saying that the chamber could not send delegations to the Legislature, but should send instead "a real glad-hander with pre-war stuff."

He added that the glad-hander would need "a copper-lined stomach." He commented also on the anti-evolution bill debate in the House, which he heard.

Members who spoke in criticism of Findly were F. O. Bittner of St. Louis, O. J. Page of Springfield, Mo., and J. H. Shuman of St. Louis. Charles M. Hay of St. Louis, who was in the House chamber, was invited by vote of the House to speak of the real attitude of St. Louis business men. Hay said he was not representative of the business men's attitude. "I've been here since early this morning, and no one has offered me a drink," said Hay, who is a leading dry.

RENEWED BUYING SENDS UP

Baldwin Locomotive Gains Eight Points, Rail Shares Liquidate
From Causes, Losses.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Concentrated buying broke out in the stock market today in several industrial and specialist, notably Baldwin Locomotive, which rose eight points to figures never before attained. The effect of the demand for railroad equipments, motors, gears, foods and chemical supplies offset the unfavorable effect produced by the steady liquidation of railroad stock shares, some of which were down three points or more.

Wheeling & Lake Erie common suffered an extreme break of 10 points, subsequently making up half of its loss. The preferred shares moved in a much narrower orbit, but managed to recover an early loss of four points. The sentimental effect of the weakness in the rails was modified during the afternoon when the industrial traders were showing their greatest strength.

With loaning rates of Wheeling & Lake Erie down to around 35c for 100 shares against a recent record of $7 for the same amount, indicating the collapse of the recent "corner" in that stock, speculative interests veered into stocks which promised more favorable opportunities for speculation. After opening down 10 points to 80, the shares moved up gradually to 85. The preferred fluctuated within a range of 5 points.

Habeas Corpus Proceedings

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Feb. 10.—Charlie Birger, the Southern Illinois gang leader, is finally in the hands of Sheriff Pritchard of Franklin County, who took charge of him here today by order of Circuit Judge J. C. Kern.

With his petition for a writ of habeas corpus set for hearing today before Judge Kern, Birger and his attorney agreed, in conference with State's Attorney Roy C. Martin of Franklin County, that Birger would go to jail in Benton pending arrangements for bond.

So, with several hundred citizens of Mount Vernon gathered in front of the Courthouse to see him, Birger slipped out a rear door, guarded by Pritchard and four deputies armed with submachine guns, and before the crowd had covered he was gone. Birger was on his way to Benton, 25 miles south. The habeas corpus proceedings were dropped.

$40,000 Bond Demanded. Birger will be held at Benton, State's Attorney Martin told a Post-Dispatch reporter, until he can give $40,000 bond for his alleged part in the murder of Joe Adams, the 300-pound Mayor of West City, who was assassinated by two men at the door of his home, just west of Benton, on Dec. 12.

The conference which decided Birger's request for bond today began at 10 a. m. At that time every seat in the Circuit Courtroom was filled and a crowd had collected on the snow-covered lawn outside. Birger came into court attired in a gray sack suit, gray shirt and bright tie. His hair was slightly rumpled, and one lock hung almost in his left eye. "Reporters are in the only vacant seat, between two newspaper reporters. "A rose between two thorns," one of the reporters remarked. Birger made his only audible comment of the day. "Reporters are no good," he observed; "none of them."

Meanwhile, Birger's lawyer, Scorial Thompson, was conferring with Judge Kern and Martin. After a short colloquy, Birger was called from his seat and taken to the waiting automobile.

Also Faces Assault Charge. It was disclosed today that besides the Adams murder warrant, there is another charge against Birger of assault to murder in connection with an attack by Birger gangsters upon Mack, also known as "Fat," Pullman, a Shelton gangster.

Wounded last fall in a fight in which his friend, "Wild Bill" Holland, was killed, Pullman was smuggled from Herrin Hospital in a basket out the Birger gang intercepted the fake funeral on the hard road and gave Pullman a severe beating.

On that charge bond has been set at $2500, which Birger will also have to furnish. It is anticipated, however, that because of his many land-owning friends the gangster will have no trouble in giving surety.

Birger arrived here at 4 o'clock this morning from Harrisburg, his home town, guarded by three St. Louis County Deputy Sheriffs. He had left the Harrisburg jail several hours before, escorted by seven men, armed with machine guns, rifles and pistols, but four of his escort did not appear at the police station here, where the party first stopped.

Judge Rebukes Deputies. After a few minutes at the station Birger and his escort went to the courthouse, where he was shut up in a room just off the Circuit Courtroom. The three deputies remained in constant attendance. Later in the morning the three deputies were rebuked by Judge Kern for their obvious sympathy for Birger.

As was told yesterday, Birger was arrested Tuesday on a Franklin County warrant, served by Sheriff Pritchard on a 25. F. warrant, who has repeatedly said he would take Birger to Franklin County for trial.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Richard Merton, German metal magnate and chief witness for the Government, took the stand this afternoon in the trial of Harry M. Daugherty, former Attorney-General, and Thomas W. Miller, former Alien Property Custodian, charged with defrauding the United States of their honest and unbiased services.

Early questions put to Merton by United States Attorney Buckner indicated the Government would not attempt to show illegality of the claim Merton, as agent for the Societe Suisse Pour Valeurs de Metaux, made for $700,000 of assets of the American Metals Co.

Personal relations which he paid to the late John T. King, one-time Republican National Committeeman from Connecticut, $441,000 for help in having the Attorney-General and Alien Property Custodian allow the claim. The $441,000, which Merton described as a "contingent fee," was paid by check for $50,000 and $391,000 in Liberty bonds. It represented, Merton said, 5 per cent of the total of the claim.

Elizabeth Miller, telephone operator in the Department of Justice Building when Daugherty was Attorney-General, took the stand and said of frequent telephone calls between Daugherty and King.

Daugherty is charged with receiving $140,000 of $441,000 alleged to have been paid as a bribe to King.

Pressed for a definition of "frequent," Miss Miller said the calls were almost daily. Sometimes, she said, Daugherty would call King in New York or Bridgeport, Conn., and sometimes King would call Daugherty.

The witness did not know the purpose of conversations over the phone. She said that as soon as she was certain a call was from Daugherty, she would "plug herself out."

Gladys Weeks, another telephone operator, corroborated testimony given by Miss Miller. Neither testified at the first trial. Their testimony was adduced to show the friendliness of King and Daugherty.

Government's Purpose. The Government, for proof of alleged conspiracy, depends upon testimony showing that Daugherty, Miller, Jesse W. Smith, Daugherty's handy man, and King were friendly, that they met and conversed frequently during the spring and summer of 1921, and that some of the Merton bonds were traced to Daugherty's and Miller's banking and brokerage accounts.

Some Senators Believe Plan

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—A proposal for additional limitation of naval armaments was made today by the United States Government to the Governments of Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy. President Coolidge informed Congress in a special message which arrived shortly after noon.

The Washington disarmament conference in 1922, while limiting the number of battleships to be possessed by the signatory nations, placed no limit on the number of submarines, destroyers and cruisers they might have. Today's proposal is to extend the limitation to those classes of vessels.

For six months a preparatory commission has been sitting at Geneva, planning for a second armaments conference. The President's message announced that the American Ambassadors at London, Paris, Rome and Tokyo were today presenting to the Governments a memorandum suggesting that the delegates at Geneva endeavor to agree upon a limitation of the number of cruisers, submarines and destroyers to be possessed by the five Powers.

Little Stir at Capitol. The message created very little stir at the Capitol. Opinion among Senators seemed almost unanimous that the President's action was made without much hope of success, and that the motive at the bottom of it was to defeat the bill providing for the construction of three additional cruisers—a bill which had seemed likely to pass despite the President's opposition.

That the inclusion of submarines, cruisers and destroyers in the limited class of war vessels would be highly desirable, was generally agreed at the Capitol. That France or Japan would agree to a limit on submarines, or that Great Britain would agree to a limit on cruisers, was considered extremely unlikely. Comment among Senators was to the effect that the President must have been aware of the remoteness when he made the proposal.

In his message to Congress the President pointed out that, while the Washington conference produced an agreement to limit the tonnage of capital ships and aircraft carriers, "Every nation has been at complete liberty to build any number of cruisers, destroyers and submarines. Only size and armament of cruisers were limited."

Although the President stated he does not believe that competitive building in these classes has actually begun, he is aware that far-reaching building programs have been laid down in some countries, and even in this country, he added, there has appeared a sentiment urging construction on the ground that it is taking place elsewhere.

"In such sentiments," he said, "lies the germ of renewed naval competition."

Thus warned, he continued, he deemed the sittings of the Preparatory Commissions at Geneva an opportune occasion for renewing efforts to accomplish additional limitations and hence his action in instructing the Ambassadors to lay the suggestion before the Powers in a memorandum. A copy of

President Coolidge Suggests Further Naval Disarmament to the Powers

SENATORS SEE LITTLE SUCCESS FOR PROPOSAL

They Hold That Coolidge Has Put It Forward to Defeat Construction Now Favored in Congress.

This memorandum was attached to the message.

The gist of it was contained in the following paragraph:

"In order to advance definitely toward a limitation agreement, the Government of the United States takes this method of addressing the inquiry to the Government's signatories of the Washington treaty limiting naval armament, as to whether they are disposed to empower their representatives at the forthcoming meeting of the Preparatory Commission to initiate negotiations looking toward an agreement providing for limitation in the classes of naval vessels not covered by the Washington treaty."

Senator Borah, chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, said that he was "heartily in sympathy with the purpose which the President apparently is seeking to achieve," but added, grimly: "I hope he has more reason to expect success than is apparent to me at this time."

Although unwilling to say so outright, Borah made it clear that he did not believe there was the slightest hope that the Powers would consent to such limitation as the President proposed, and he intimated, moreover, that the President must have been aware of that fact when he made the proposal.

Senator Hale of Maine, a high ranking Democratic member of the Foreign Relations Committee, was even blunter in his comment. "It purports to be an attempt to stop the gaps left by the Washington conference," he said. "I haven't the slightest idea that it will succeed, and I doubt if the President expects it to succeed. His real purpose is to defeat the program for building the three cruisers. My idea of the way to get limitation of armaments is to go ahead and start the cruisers."

Cruisers in Central America. Senator Moses (Rep.) of New Hampshire, also a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, very ironically declared: "There are a lot of people who will interpret this as an attempt to stop the building of the three cruisers; of course, I do not regard it. I regard it as a great state paper. However, when our foreign affairs are being conducted in Central America and China almost entirely with battle cruisers and marines, it may seem somewhat opportune to launch a movement to limit the construction of war vessels."

Senator Hale (Rep.) of Maine, chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs, said: "Of course, the provisions of the Washington treaty should be extended to the other classes of ships, and that is what the President proposes. This has nothing to do with the proposed three cruisers, because their construction could not possibly raise our navy above a level which would be fixed if the Powers should agree to limit that class of vessels."

Senator King (Dem.) of Utah, an expert on fiscal legislation, said: "I am in favor of any move to further limit naval armaments. If we don't do something of the sort, our naval expenses in three or four years will reach half a billion dollars a year, and the addition of military expenses will bring the total for armament to nearly a billion annually. My only regret is that the President didn't make his proposal broader."

Gillett Is Impressed. Senator Gillett (Rep.), Massachusetts, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he was very favorably impressed with the suggestion for additional naval disarmament, but also with the suggestion that Europe must settle its own problems of land disarmament.

Representative Tison of Connecticut, the Republican floor leader, who sponsored the three cruiser proposal in the House, said he was in accord with the desire for arms reduction, but felt that "a proper proportion of cruisers would be

Text of U. S. Note to Powers on Arms Limitation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. FOLLOWING is the text of the American memorandum to the powers on further naval limitation:

The American Government has followed with close attention the proceedings of the preparatory commission for the disarmament conference, and, after the most careful deliberation, has concluded that it can helpfully make certain observations at the time which, it hopes, may contribute materially to the success of that commission—a success earnestly desired by the Government and people of the United States.

The conviction that the competitive augmentation of national armaments has been one of the principal causes of international suspicion and ill-will, leading to war, is firmly held by the American Government, and it is hence the American Government has neglected no opportunity to lend its sympathy and support to international efforts to reduce and limit armaments.

The success of the Washington conference of 1921-22 demonstrated that other Powers were animated with a similar desire to do away with this dangerous source of international discord. The Washington conference made a beginning, however, and it has been the continued hope of the American Government, since 1922, that the task undertaken at Washington by the group of naval Powers could be resumed and completed.

America's Helpful Part. For this reason, the American Government was happy to observe that the efforts looking toward the holding of a general international conference for the limitation of armament, which had been in progress for several years under the auspices of the League of Nations, had reached, in December, 1925, a stage sufficiently advanced, in the opinion of the Council of the League of Nations, to warrant the establishment of the Preparatory Commission, to meet in 1926, to prepare the ground for an international conference at an early date.

The American Government, pursuant to its policy of co-operation with all efforts calculated to bring about an actual limitation of armament, accepted the invitation of the Council to be represented on the Preparatory Commission. The American representatives on that commission have endeavored to play a helpful part in its discussions, and they will continue to be guided by that policy.

The American Government believes that the discussions of the commission have been most valuable in making clear the views of the various Governments as to the problems presented, and in demonstrating the complexity and diversity of the obstacles to be overcome in a general agreement for the limitation of all armaments.

At the same time, these very complexities and difficulties, as brought out in the preparatory commission, have clearly pointed helpful rather than harmful at a conference.

While the presidential message still was lying on the clerk's desk unread, Representative Tison obtained unanimous consent to print in the record a speech delivered here by Speaker Longworth last night, in which he reaffirmed his support of the plan for three additional cruisers. Mention of this speech was applauded from both sides of the chamber.

The matter of the three cruisers, which was instantly connected with the President's proposal, stands in this wise: The building of the three cruisers already authorized, but there is a provision in the pending naval bill appropriating money with which to begin their construction immediately.

President Coolidge feels that such a program does not fit his economic policies, and his opinion was sufficient to bring about the defeat of the provision in the House. However, the Senate passed the provision and it is now in conference, apparently with prospects that the House will recede from its position and enact the provision. The defeat of that prospect was the subject which so many Senators today attributed to the President in making his disarmament proposition.

Text of the Message. The text of the President's message is as follows:

To the Congress of the United States: Pursuant to my instructions, the American Ambassadors at London, Paris, Rome and Tokio will today present to the Governments of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan a memorandum suggesting that they empower their delegates at the forthcoming meeting of the Preparatory Commission for the Disarmament Conference at Geneva to negotiate and conclude at an early date an agreement further limiting naval armament, supplementing the Washington treaty on that subject, and covering the classes of vessels not covered by that treaty. I transmit herewith for the information of the Congress a copy of this memorandum. I wish to inform the Congress out that a final solution for the problem of armament may not be immediately practicable. Indeed, at the latest meeting of the Council of the League of Nations, several distinguished statesmen, leaders in the movement for the limitation of armament, sounded a note of warning against too great optimism of immediate success.

Anxious for Concrete Results. The American Government is most anxious that concrete results in the limitation of armament may be achieved. The discussions of the Preparatory Commission have emphasized the fact that a number of Governments consider that one of the chief present obstacles to the general reduction and limitation of armaments lies in the interdependence of land, sea and air armaments, and in the consequent impossibility of reducing or limiting one of these categories without dealing simultaneously with the others.

On the other hand, the discussions have demonstrated even more emphatically that, should all effort to bring about the reduction or limitation of armament be conditioned upon the acceptance by all the world of a comprehensive plan covering all classes and types of armament, there would be little, if any, prospect of actual progress toward arms limitation in the near future.

The above difficulties must be frankly recognized. The American Government believes that they can be overcome, and that they must be overcome, since the consequences of a failure to overcome them, and to make some definite, if only partial, agreement for the limitation of armament, would constitute a setback to the cause of international peace, too great to deserve serious contemplation as a possibility.

Proposes Solution. Admitting reluctantly that the existing political situations in certain parts of the world may render the problem of universal limitation incapable of immediate solution, when such an agreement is reached, the American Government believes that it is entirely practicable for the nations of the world to proceed at once to the isolation and separate solution of such problems as may appear susceptible of such treatment, meanwhile continuing to give sympathetic consideration and discussion to comprehensive proposals aimed at the simultaneous limitation of land, sea, and air armaments by a general agreement when such an agreement may be warranted by existing world conditions.

The American Government believes that the adoption of such a course is the duty of the Governments represented on the preparatory commission, and that by so doing they will insure the achievement by the commission and by the general conference of concrete, even though perhaps only partial, results, thus facilitating the achievement of the final solution of the general problem.

Essentially Regional Problems. The American Government, as its representatives on the preparatory commission have repeatedly stated, feels that land and air armaments constitute essentially regional problems to be solved primarily by regional agreements. The American army and air force are at minimum strength. Agreement for land and air limitation in other regions of the world would not be dependent upon the reduction of limitation of American land and air forces. Therefore the American Government does not feel that it can appropriately offer definite suggestions to the Powers in regard to the limitation of these categories of armament.

The problem of the limitation of naval armament, while not regional in character, can be dealt with as a practical matter by measures affecting the navies of a limited group of Powers. This has been clearly established by the success of the Washington treaty limiting naval armament.

The United States, as the initiator of the Washington conference, and as one of the principal naval powers, has a direct interest in this question, and, being both ready and willing to enter into an agreement further limiting naval armament, feels itself privileged to indicate a course of procedure which will, in its opinion, lead to such an agreement.

The discussions over a period of six months in Geneva have been most useful in an exchange of views as to the general problem of naval limitation, and on the basis of these discussions it is felt that there is a possibility of reconciling many of the divergent views which have been expressed in such a manner as to meet the requirements of the naval Powers and enable them to decide upon acceptable measures of limitation.

America's Proposal. In order to advance definitely toward a limitation agreement, the Government of the United States takes this method of addressing an inquiry to the Government signatories of the Washington treaty limiting naval armament as to whether they are disposed to empower their representatives at the forthcoming meeting of the preparatory commission to initiate negotiations looking toward an agreement providing for limitation in the classes of naval vessels not covered by the Washington treaty.

The American Government is not unmindful of the fact that the preparatory commission is not specifically charged with the duty of recommending such an agreement, and that its task is primarily that of preparing the agenda for a conference to be called at a later date.

Nevertheless, being sincerely desirous to advance toward such an agreement, the American Government makes this suggestion in the firm belief that the conclusion at Geneva, as soon as possible, among the Powers represented on the preparatory commission, of an agreement for further naval limitation, far from interfering with the success of the preparatory commission, would constitute a valuable contribution to the achievement of the final solution of the general problem.

of the Preparatory Commission's aims, would constitute a valuable contribution to the sum of achievement attributable to that commission and would facilitate the task of the final conference in dealing with the particularly complex problems of land and air armament, perhaps capable of solution for the present only by regional limitation agreements.

It seems probable that under any circumstances the final conference will not be able to meet during this calendar year. The coming into effect of agreements reached by it might be delayed for a considerable period for a multitude of causes. Therefore, the American Government believes that those Powers which may be able to arrive at an agreement for further naval limitation at an earlier date would not be justified in consciously postponing that agreement and thereby opening the way for a recrudescence of a spirit of competitive naval building—a development greatly to be deplored by all Governments and peoples.

Washington Treaty a Basis. The American Government feels that the general principles of the Washington treaty offer a suitable basis for further discussion among its signatories.

Although hesitating at this time to put forward rigid proposals as regard the ratios of naval strength to be maintained by the different Powers, the American Government, for its part, is disposed to accept, in regard to those classes of vessels not covered by the Washington treaty, an extension of the 5-5-3 ratio as regards the United States, Great Britain and Japan, and to leave to discussion at Geneva the ratios of France and Italy, taking into full account their special conditions and requirements in regard to the types of vessels in question.

Ratios for capital ships and aircraft carriers were established by that treaty which would not be affected in any way by an agreement covering other classes of ships.

Authority of U. S. Delegates. The American representatives at the forthcoming meeting at Geneva will, of course, participate fully in the discussions looking toward the preparation of an agenda for a final general conference for the limitation of armament. In addition, they will have full powers to negotiate definitely regarding measures for further naval limitation, and, if they are able to reach agreement with the representatives of the other signatories of the Washington treaty, to conclude a convention embodying such agreement, in tentative or final form, as may be found practicable.

The American Government earnestly hopes that the institution of such negotiations at Geneva may be agreeable to the Governments of the British Empire, France, Italy and Japan, and that comprehensive limitation of all types of naval armament may be brought into effect among the principal naval Powers without delay.

to be expected that the spirit of competition, stifled as regards capital ships and aircraft carriers by the Washington treaty, would, sooner or later, show itself with regard to the other vessels not limited under the treaty.

Actually, I do not believe that competitive building of these classes of ships has begun. Nevertheless, far-reaching building programs have been laid down in certain powers, and there has appeared in our own country, as well as abroad, a sentiment urging naval construction on the ground that such construction is taking place elsewhere. In such sentiments lies the germ of renewed naval competition.

Naval Limitation Preferable. I am sure that all Governments and all peoples would choose a system of naval limitation in preference to consciously reverting to competitive building. Therefore, in the hope of bringing about an opportunity for discussion among the principal naval powers to ascertain whether further limitation is practicable, I have suggested to them that negotiations on this subject should begin as soon as possible.

The moment seems particularly opportune to try to secure further limitation of armament in accordance with the expressed will of the Congress. The earnest desire of the nations of the world to relieve themselves in as great a measure as possible of the burden of armaments and to avoid the dangers of competition has been shown by the establishment of the preparatory commission for the disarmament conference, which met in Geneva last May, and which is continuing its work with a view of preparing the agenda for a final general conference.

For more than six months, representatives of a score or more of nations have examined from all points of view the problem of the reduction and limitation of armaments. In these discussions it was brought out very clearly that a number of nations felt that land, sea, and air armaments were interdependent and that it would be difficult, if not impossible, to agree upon the limitation of one type of armament without simultaneously limiting the other types.

Danger of Deadlock. The consequence to be feared is that a deadlock will be reached, should even partial progress in the reduction of armaments be conditioned upon the acceptance of some universal plan covering land, sea and air forces together. If the prospective deadlock cannot be broken, it is probable that little progress will be made for the time being. It appears to me to be the duty of this Government, which has always advocated limitation of armaments, to endeavor to suggest some avenue by which concrete results may be achieved even though such results may be short of an ultimate ideal solution for the three-fold problem of land, sea and air armament.

Our delegates at Geneva have consistently expressed the view that under conditions as they exist in the world today the problems of land and air armaments are most susceptible of solution by regional agreements covering regions within which the land or air armaments of one country could constitute a potential threat to another country. Geographical contingencies have been suggested as regions appropriate for land and air limitation agreements.

U. S. Army Not a Threat. The American land and air force constitute a threat to no one. They are at minimum strength; their reduction has been suggested by no one as a necessary condition precedent to general arms limitation. This reduction of our land forces has been rendered possible by our favored geographical position.

I realize that the problems of armaments on land and in the air in Europe are beset with difficulties which in all justice we must recognize, and, although this Government will always be ready to lend its assistance in any appropriate way to efforts on the part of European or other Governments to arrive at regional agreements limiting land and air forces, it would hesitate to make specific proposals on this subject to European nations.

JUDGE DENIES HELPING TO TRAP BOOTLEGGERS

Counsel Files Answer in Impeachment Inquiry by House Judiciary Committee.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Taking the stand in defense of his own judicial actions, Federal Judge Frank Cooper of the Northern New York District, denied before the House Judiciary Committee today that he had conspired with R. Q. Merrick, former prohibition administrator for New York, to unlawfully entrap bootleggers.

The judge appeared at hearings on an impeachment resolution introduced by Representative La Guardia (Rep.) of New York, and his testimony was in line with that of Merrick, who also was questioned, and who said Cooper had agreed to obtain the release of any prohibition agents who might be arrested in line of duty.

Reading a prepared statement to the committee, the judge declared that his conversation with the youth of law violators coming into his court had led him to confer with Merrick.

Asked Merrick to Act.
"I tell you frankly, gentlemen," he said, "that I brought this situation to the attention of Mr. Merrick and asked him if he could not devise some plan whereby he could learn who these higher-ups were who were employing these boys."

Mr. Merrick did devise a plan and carry it to successful culmination, but before doing so he told me that if his under-cover agents were arrested and forced to disclose their identities, they would be in the hands of the law. I told him that if they were caught in the doing of their work they would be released on their own recognizance.

Previously a denial had been made in brief filed by Ellena Hanson, Cooper's counsel. Hanson said that Merrick and Judge Cooper conferred in December, 1924, on a plan presented by Merrick to flood Northern New York with new prohibition agents in an effort to make contacts with bootleggers.

Promised to Free Agents.
"The only thing Mr. Merrick asked Judge Cooper to do and the only thing that Judge Cooper did," the brief related, "was to promise to order the release of Mr. Merrick's agents should they be apprehended by any Federal officer and taken before a United States Commissioner while they were performing the duties assigned to them by the prohibition administrator of the State of New York."

Hanson related that Merrick was on the witness stand in some of the bootleg cases tried before Judge Cooper and that he was cross-examined as to his enforcement plans when turned over to counsel for the defense.

Referring in open committee session in Cooper's conference with Merrick, Hanson said the judge did not know the identity of the new agents or that of the suspected bootleggers whom they were following. He disputed La Guardia's contention that Cooper's action prejudiced him in trying the cases. If Cooper's act in agreeing to release Government agents who might be arrested in line of duty rendered him impeachable, Hanson said, it is something new in law to me.

Hanson introduced Roscoe Irwin of Albany, who was associate counsel for some of the defendants in the bootleg cases, declaring Irwin was present to refute La Guardia's charges that the defendants were not given a fair trial.

Turning again to the Merrick-Cooper conference, Hanson said the judge sent for Merrick because he was concerned by the number and youth of prohibition law violators coming into his court. The conversation, he said, produced Merrick's plan to send new agents into the State.

Merrick Tells of Plan.
After Hanson's statement, Merrick was placed on the stand by Chairman Graham. He said he was summoned by Cooper in December, 1924, and that the judge agreed to arrange for release of Merrick's agents who might be arrested in their drive against bootleggers. The judge, he said, was urged by Assistant Secretary of Treasury Andrews.

Cooper had never given him any specific instructions as to how to go about the campaign, he said, nor had he pointed out suspected bootleggers to be arrested.

STRANGE HIEROGLYPHICS DISCOVERED IN ARMENIA
They Are Believed to Be Relics of a Civilization Contemporaneous With That of Egypt.

By the Associated Press.
ERIVAN, Soviet Armenia, Feb. 10.—Chiseled on mountain side on the shores of Lake Sevan in Southern Armenia, have been found hieroglyphic inscriptions ante-dating the birth of Christ by several thousand years. They are believed to be relics of a civilization in Armenia contemporaneous with that of Egypt, Persia, Assyria and Babylon. Thus far archaeologists have not been able to decipher them.

The Armenian Government has appointed a committee of experts to study the inscriptions.

MANY AUTOS IN PHILIPPINES

Natives Who Formerly Walked Barefoot, Buy Cars on Credit.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.
MANILA, Jan. 12.—When the American regime began in the Philippines, 23 years ago, the Filipino usually walked wherever he wished to go, and walked barefoot—"shoe hobbles" being only a contemptuous few in the whole population. Today this is changed. Instead of walking the Filipino rides in a motor car; possibly it is no more than a small truck converted to passenger use, but whatever it is, it takes him there and brings him back. He may have grown wealthy and his carromata (a kind of two-wheeled horse-drawn vehicle) of other days may be transmuted into an eight-cylinder limousine; still it will be one of the American cars, which have captured the market.

Competition has grown so keen that easy-payment plans prevail, and merchants now complain that Filipinos keep themselves strapped for their ordinary purchases. However, they do have money for shoes and socks, and quite commonly the very best and most expensive of both. It is now rare to see a barefoot man in Manila; the half-nude cloddish peon, whose lot is still tragic enough, is confined to the provinces.

MEXICO BARS DISSENTING SECT FROM CHURCHES

Schismatics Had Asked Permission to Use Large Catholic Edifices—Told to Build Their Own.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, Feb. 10.—The Government has refused to turn over any Roman Catholic Church to the "Mexican Apostolic Church," which describes itself as Catholic, but has no relations with Rome and denies the authority of the Pope.

Patriarch Perez, head of the schismatic church, presented a petition for the use of some of the most important Roman Catholic churches in Mexico City on the grounds that the priests had abandoned them since the religious laws became effective last August.

In effect, the reply of the Department of the Interior was: "If you desire churches, go and build them."

It was added that the Government would be glad to approve an application from the apostolic church for the erection of new houses of worship.

The Secretary of Education, Dr. Jose Puig Casauran, has denied the petition of the National Teachers' League asking closure of the foreign-owned primary schools in Mexico.

The petition alleged that these schools taught Mexican children to admire everything foreign and to despise their homeland.

In his reply, the Secretary declared the law protects such schools and that they operate along an official program under official supervision.

Fifteen rebels have been killed and several prisoners taken in the state of Queretaro and Guanajuato, the War Department announced. A considerable quantity of rifles and ammunition was captured.

Government officials have charged that the League for the Defense of Religious Liberty was plotting an uprising against the Government in those two states.

Dispatches from Vera Cruz say the Port Workers' Union there has submitted a circular of the regional Confederation of Labor, suggesting a boycott of all American products as a protest against the attitude of American oil men and financiers toward Mexico and Nicaragua.

Walling is known in Mexico City as a criminal.

The newspapers have learned that Senora Maria Olmedo de Olguin, of a prominent family, was arrested a week ago and is being held incommunicado. The papers say she was arrested on the suspicion that she was connected with anti-Government plots, although she has denied this.

ONLY THREE CARDS ON TABLE, SO IT WASN'T GAMBLING

Attorney for Player Makes That Contention and Judge Continues Case for Study.

A friendly game of "five-card stud" poker was just getting under way between four young members of the National Athletic Association at 201 North Sixth street. A friend looked on. The sum of $20.16 was bet about the table and in the pot.

Three cards had been dealt and the players were eagerly inspecting each card as it was flipped down. When an untimely interruption occurred. It was the police. This all happened Jan. 22.

Tomorrow the four youths, Louis Newman, Jack Kanter, Jack Foran and Leonard Heep, with the witness, Morris Landberg, appeared in City Judge Rosecan's court to answer to a charge of gambling. It looked like a clear case against them when counsel for the defense popped up with the contention that the players could not have been gambling because only three cards had been dealt and therefore no bets could have been made.

The point earned for the defense a continuance until March 17, pending which date the Court will investigate the merits of the contention. Charges against the fifth youth will be dropped.

WOMAN STILL OPERATING CLEANER MANUFACTURING CO.

Joe Rose Burkhardt Obtains Release of Attachment by Filing an Appeal Bond.

Mrs. Rose Burkhardt, 50 years old, a widow, is still operating the Rose Manufacturing Co., at 400 North Third street. Her office furniture was attached recently, but was not piled on the sidewalk outside, as erroneously reported in the Dispatch at the time.

The attachment followed a Justice of the Peace Court judgment of $102 against her, for rent on a building which she had leased, but never occupied. Assuming she was induced to sign the lease by misrepresentations, Mrs. Burkhardt has appealed to Circuit Court from the judgment, and has posted a bond requiring the attachment.

Strikes Woman and Flees. A woman who had applied a week ago at the Credit Service Co. in the Railway Exchange Building for a loan, came in to demand money yesterday and, upon being told it was not ready, struck Mrs. Clara Thomas, the manager. Mrs. Thomas reported

Mrs. Ethel Edstrom reported to police that two men called her to the door of her home at 4174 Delmar boulevard at 11:25 p. m., held her up with shotguns and made her give them $65.

When he declared he did not know the combination of the safe in a drug store at 2138 Benton street at 6 p. m., David Reese, the clerk, was bound with wire and gagged by two robbers, who stole $40 from the cash drawer.

William Nelson reported he had snatched a revolver from a holdup man in his secondhand store at 1307 Market street at 5:40 p. m., but reported he "didn't have the heart" to fire at the man, who fled. Nelson turned the revolver over to the police.

25 ELECTRIC LIGHT GLOBES ARE DESTROYED BY VANDALS

Exploded Cartridge Shells Indicate Lamps Were Used for Targets.

For the second time in six months, the electric light globes on Watson road, between Marquette avenue and the city limits, have been broken by vandals, who apparently have used the lamps as targets, when practicing revolver shooting, as exploded shells have been found in the vicinity.

Captain Hanna of the Mounted District reported to Director of Public Utilities Pritchard that 25 globes were broken sometime between 2 p. m. Monday and 7 a. m. Tuesday. George B. Heath, superintendent of street lighting, estimates that it will cost $187.50 to replace the globes.

A similar occurrence took place six months ago and Heath has requested the police to ask the residents of the district to aid the authorities in finding out who is destroying the lamps.

WOMEN DECEASED BY STORY OF INHERITANCES ABROAD

Latest Victim, Mrs. Johanna Undberg, From Whom Swindler Obtained $12,500.

A man, who called at the home of Mrs. Frederick Meyer, 87 years old, of 2064 Agnes street, yesterday while her daughter, Mrs. Johanna Undberg, of 3506 North Twentyfirst street, was visiting there, told the daughter Mrs. Meyer had inherited an estate in Germany valued at $6500.

The money, he said, was in a New York bank and would be sent to a St. Louis bank as soon as $19.50 fees for the exchange had been paid. Mrs. Undberg gave the man the money and he left. Inquiries later at the bank mentioned deceived the woman had been swindled. The same swindler had defrauded several women recently of small sums of money by the same story.

NO WAITING FOR AUTO TAGS Increased Clerical Force in Larger Quarters at City Hall.

Persons applying for State automobile licenses at the branch office in the City Hall basement need not face a tiresome wait in line this year as heretofore. It was announced today.

Apparently, it was said, hundreds are holding back on obtaining their 1927 license in recollection of the waiting line in 1926 and previously. The office, with increased personnel, has been removed from the fourth floor to quarters four times as large in the basement, made still more convenient by accessibility from an entrance directly to the basement on Twelfth street at the southeast corner of the building.

Alleged Illinois Slayer Extradited.
JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 10.—Gov. Baker has honored a request from Illinois for the return of Dave Anderson, of Chicago, on a murder charge in connection with the fatal shooting of James Williams, Oct. 21, 1924. Anderson is held by St. Louis police.

DENIES HE FROZE OUT BROTHER FROM FIRM

George Wiegand Replies to Minnis in Stamping Co. Receivership Suit.

James L. Minnis' charge that George Wiegand, president of the Standard Stamping Co., 2000 North Broadway, froze his brother, Charles Wiegand, out of the business in 1913, was denied yesterday.

In testimony given in Federal Court by George Wiegand and his two sons, George G. and Porter Wiegand, Judge Reeves of Kansas City is hearing Minnis' suit for a receivership and accounting. In an earlier session of the hearing, held in mid-January, Minnis said he bought the stock of the frozen-out brother, Charles, which was 49 per cent of the company's issue, and that George Wiegand later tried unsuccessfully to squeeze him out. Minnis declared that, in a conversation at the end of 1913, George Wiegand told him he had decided to pass the business to meet the necessities of his brother.

George Wiegand yesterday denied that any such conversation had taken place. He said he had no hard feelings against his brother, Charles, and that there had been no difficulty between them until Charles gave Minnis an option on his stock in the company. Since acquiring the stock, he said, Minnis had made himself obnoxious by efforts to control the company, though a minority stockholder. He said he had always furnished Minnis with all information requested by Minnis. Before acquiring Charles Wiegand's stock, Minnis was counsel for the company.

Porter Wiegand, son of George Wiegand, and an employee in the firm, testified that he had heard his father's conversation with Minnis at the end of 1913, and had not heard the remark about Charles Wiegand.

Porter Wiegand was also asked by Edward W. Forstater, defense attorney, about allegations in the petition that the firm's payroll had been padded and that company gasoline had been used in Porter's car. The padding charge was denied flatly, with the statement that such a thing could not have been done without the knowledge of 20 other persons. Porter Wiegand said his car was frequently used on company business, and that he sometimes used the company's gasoline and oil for that reason.

Another son, George G. Wiegand, an official of the firm, testified to a conversation between the elder Wiegand and Minnis, in which Wiegand said that an 8 per cent dividend was to be declared, and Minnis said, "That's good."

MOTHER AND 4-YEAR-OLD GIRL KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO
West Frankfort, Ill., Woman and Daughter Hit Crossing Road; Third Person Seriously Hurt.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BENTON, Ill., Feb. 10.—Mrs. John C. Weatherall of West Frankfort, and her daughter, Naomi, 4 years old, were killed last night when struck by an automobile driven by Mitchell Seardon of Buckner, between here and West Frankfort.

Mrs. Weatherall was driving Mrs. John Beechman to the latter's country home, two miles north of West Frankfort. Their automobile was marked in front of the Beechman home and the three had started across the hard road when run down by Seardon's automobile. The child was killed instantly. Mrs. Weatherall died in the West Frankfort hospital three hours later and Mrs. Beechman is seriously injured. It may be necessary to amputate her legs. Seardon took the three to the hospital.

RESTRICTS DRY RAID ARRESTS
Federal Judge Holds Officers Must First Obtain Warrants.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 10.—Federal Judge F. A. Geiger holds that Federal prohibition agents must first obtain warrants before they have a legal right to arrest persons found on raided premises. Arrests of hand have been the practice.

The decision was given yesterday in the case of Walter A. Pfeil, arrested when a brewery at Mayville, Wis., was raided Tuesday. A ruling had been sought as to the legality of the arrest by counsel for Pfeil.

Accident Verdict in Boy's Death.
A coroner's verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday at Edwardsville in the death of Stanley Hoskins, 13 years old, of St. Louis, who was killed when he fell under a freight car of the Nickel Plate road while riding.

Children sick less often

Children gain weight and are sick less often when they get good cod-liver oil regularly. This is commonly observed.

Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil is especially effective for this purpose. Because it is unusually rich in the growth-promoting, resistance-increasing Vitamin A. So rich, in fact, that a teaspoonful contains as much as a whole pound of butter!

The health-promoting vitamins in cod-liver oil are very easily impaired. The reason that Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil is so highly effective is because the greatest care is taken in its selection, refining, handling and bottling.

For little babies and children, Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil also supplies in abundance that element—Vitamin D—now known to be necessary for the formation of good teeth and bones.

MERCHANT, ON TRIAL, CALLED LEADER IN MELLETT MURDER

Ben Rudner, Second of Three Suspects to Face Court, Denies He Even Knew Stain Editor.

By the Associated Press.
CANTON, O., Feb. 10.—Ben Rudner, a merchant of Massillon, was described as the "chief conspirator" by Henry W. Harter Jr., County Prosecutor, in his opening statement today in Rudner's trial for murder in connection with the killing last July of Don R. Mellett, Canton editor.

"Ben Rudner is the man who gathered together the conspirators, who paid them, and then having set the thing in motion, built an alibi and relied on his friends to do the shooting," Harter told the seven women and five men on the jury.

E. L. Mills, of defense counsel, replied that Rudner "is being wrongfully prosecuted under an indictment returned in time of excitement." "By our plea of not guilty," Mills said, "we mean that Ben Rudner had nothing to do with the crime and was in no wise involved. Rudner had no incentive to murder Mellett. He never knew Mellett. His name was never mentioned in Mellett's paper."

The State charges that Rudner planned Mellett's death as the result of an editorial campaign against vice and crime in Canton. Patrick McDermott, now serving a life sentence in the Ohio penitentiary, and Louis Maser, awaiting trial for murder, are the men accused of the actual shooting.

Mrs. Florence Evans Mellett, widow of Mellett, today testified that she heard 11 or 12 shots fired at her husband when he was killed at his garage door, July 14. The shots sounded as if they came from three weapons and from the flashes they appeared to be fired from two different ambushes, she said. Mrs. Mellett said she believes her husband was killed by the first shot fired, because upon hearing it she ran to the rear door of the house and saw her husband lying on the ground.

BLOCKS DRY REORGANIZATION

"Wet" Senator Hails It, New Proposal for Liquor Corporation.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Senate votes again have blocked the administration's prohibition reorganization bill. Chairman Smoot of the Finance Committee asked unanimous consent for a night session next week to take up the bill, but Senator Edwards (Dem.), New Jersey, objected.

In the House a new proposal to create a corporation to manufacture medicinal liquor under Government control was introduced today by Representative Hawley of Oregon, ranking Republican of the Ways and Means Committee which recently tabled the Treasury plan for a similar corporation. Hawley said he had no idea of pressing for enactment at this session. Under Hawley's bill directors of the corporation would be elected by the Secretaries of Commerce and the Treasury and the Surgeon-General of the Public Health Service, instead of by stockholders and the Treasury would not be guarantor of the $25,000,000 gold notes, as the Treasury bill provided.

MAN BADLY HURT IN FIGHT

Roy Hayden, 29 years old, of 2018 Butler street, early today paid his second visit to City Hospital within a few hours and insisted he was more seriously injured than his first visit had revealed. A second examination indicated he probably had suffered a skull fracture and he remained at the hospital. Hayden suffered his injuries at 5 p. m. yesterday at Twenty-second and Locust streets when he found his wife, from whom he is separated, and her sister in company with two men. He was knocked down in a fight with the men.

The men named by Hayden, Elmer Kelly, 24, 1907 Hickory street, and Joseph Kemp, 24, 215 Duchouquette street, were arrested and cross charged with Hayden with disturbing the peace.

She charges desertion and seeks the custody of their 6-year-old son, Frederick K. No reference was made to the McPherson case. The Ormistons were married in San Francisco, April 10, 1920. POLITICS LIKELY TO THWART STATE PRISON INQUIRY

Democrats and Republicans Have Rival Plans Neither of Which Promises Thorough Investigation.

DEADLOCK ON THE MATTER FORECAST

Both Sides Supported by Opinion of Attorney-General on the Legality of the Procedure.

By CURTIS A. BETTS, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 10.—After two days of political juggling with the House proposal for an investigation of the State Penitentiary management and an unbiased audit of the prison, Democrats and Republicans in the body went to the floor today with rival plans, neither of which gave promise of a thorough inquiry.

The Senate debated the two resolutions for nearly two hours, a waste of time because the Democratic caucus had pledged the majority to support the resolution it submitted and to oppose any other. The debate was interspersed with parliamentary questions.

Though no record vote was taken, the Ralph proposal was rejected by a strict party vote and the Democratic caucus proposal adopted by the same vote.

In their efforts to avoid an inquiry which would show conclusively the exact conditions of the prison, both sides were supported by an opinion by Attorney-General Gentry, an appointee of Gov. Baker, who is standing by his Prison Board, to the effect that any committee appointed by the Legislature could not function legally after the adjournment of the Legislature.

This was taken as an excuse by the Democrats for a scheme which omits an audit of prison finances and by the Republicans for a plan which would put the entire investigation under control of State Auditor Thompson, who also is under fire from the Senate.

Agreement Not Likely. It is regarded as doubtful that the House will accept the proposal of the Democratic Senate. The House started out with a resolution for an audit of the prison, the resolution being amended on the floor to include a general inquiry. It was so loosely drawn that a Senate amendment was necessary and Senator Cave, president pro tem, prepared one, which, if it had been passed, would have given every power needed, including an audit by certified public accountants.

Senator Ralph of St. Louis County, Republican floor leader, objected and prevented consideration of the Cave amendment until the opinion of the Attorney-General as to the legality of a committee could be obtained.

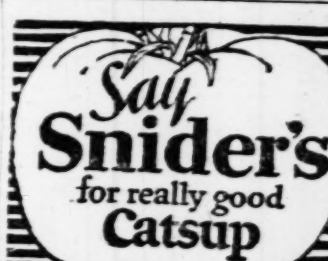

Then Cave took his proposal into the Democratic caucus while Ralph called in a few Republican friends to aid in working out a counter resolution. The Democrats worked two nights and produced a resolution for the appointment of a committee with power to summon witnesses. If the committee decides an audit is desirable which, it is reasonably safe to say now, it will not, it will return to the Legislature for an appropriation and the authority needed to make the contract with an auditing firm.

The Republican Scheme. Ralph worked out an elaborate scheme for an audit by expert accountants under the direction of Auditor Thompson, and for an inquiry by Thompson to whom he sought to give all the powers of a court. His resolution, because of its partisan character and because it carried an appropriation of $50,000, approximately twice the estimated cost of an audit, is doomed to defeat.

It was suggested by some Democrats that the opinion of the Attorney-General could be ignored and the original resolution passed notwithstanding the ruling that the committee would be powerless. The committee could go right ahead unless its authority was challenged, they argued, "and who would challenge it? Would the Republican State Auditor take the responsibility of stopping the investigation? Would the prison authorities under investigation institute proceedings to stop it? They would not because such a course would be ruinous politically to them and to the Republican administration."

Position of House Leaders. The position of Republican House leaders has been that they would agree to any amendment to their resolution the Senate adopted, provided it strengthened the resolution. Unless they change their minds during the day they will not agree to a mere committee inquiry without the audit. Democratic Senators say that if the House does not concur in the amendment they will pass a separate Senate resolution and proceed to conduct an investigation without House aid. They may do this or the gesture may be in expectation that the House will consent to their plan for abandonment of the audit and for an inquiry by a joint committee rather than leave the inquiry to a committee which the Democrats would control.

Edison at 80 Is Still Working on Inventions

"Wizard of Menlo Park," Who Will Keep Birthday Tomorrow, at Laboratory
Daily From 10 to 6.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Tomorrow the greater part of the civilized world will unite in paying homage to Thomas Alva Edison on his eightieth birthday.

Wherever there is an electric light or a photograph or a motion picture theater this event is arousing more than ordinary interest.
Excerpting James Watt, inventor of the steam engine, Thomas Edison probably created more wealth than any other inventor who ever lived. Yet he is, relatively speaking, a man of modest means.

Cable and wireless messages will be pouring in from all parts of the world to the tidy red brick laboratory in West Orange, N. J., where the "Wizard of Menlo Park" has been working these 40 years. Henry Ford is expected to be among his callers.

"A Mere Youngster."
The New York World has several birthday greetings for Edison in advance.

"What do you tell me—Edison 80 years old?" exclaimed Edward Brantly, the physicist, who was a pioneer in radio discoveries, to the World's Paris correspondent, who called yesterday at No. 21 Avenue de Tourville. "I thought Edison was an old man. He is a mere youngster."

Prof. Brantly himself was 82 last October, but works daily from 8 a.
m. to 7:30 p. m.

"I don't want to repeat," he went on, "what everyone thinks about the great man who brought electricity to the home, and I would rather only felicitate him on his youth and to wish him many more years of fruitful labor. I am sure Edison feels as I do, that in our work our age never changes."

Edison still thinks about life and its work as he did when a newsboy on the Grand Trunk Railroad.
Time is short and there is so much to do. To save time he rigged up a laboratory in a baggage car.

"Time," he says, "is really the only capital man has."
"Edison gets up about 6:30 in the morning," said William H.
Meadowcroft, his assistant at the West Orange laboratory. "He comes down here about 8 or 10 and is at his experiments all day, quitting about 8 or 7 p. m. He goes home and has dinner and the rest of the evening, say until 11 or 12 o'clock, is spent in reading. He reads prodigiously."

Secretive as to His Work.
Exactly what new invention he is working on will not be found out by any eavesdropper at West Orange.
That isn't Edison's way. "First catch your fish," he says, "that is, perfect your invention, then announce it."

"Edison is working all the time on 20 different lines of experimentation or more," Meadowcroft went on. "He drives them tandem, so to speak. We cannot say what these things specifically are. Besides this new work he is all the time pushing experimental work in the refinement of his many older inventions. He carries on research in sound recording and reproducing.
The phonograph is a perfected instrument, but still he wants to go on to the absolute limit of refinement and his studies never stop. It is the same with his storage battery and other inventions."

In recent years Edison has begun to think more beyond the borders of applied physics and chemistry.
His speculations range into economies and philosophy and religion.
In a series of interviews in the Forum he has affirmed his faith in the machine age, has avowed that man may only become free through the substitution of machine power for man power has described the scientific city of the future and has admitted that he is inclined to believe in man's immortality.

Immortality of the Soul.
"Belief in the immortality of the soul to some extent depends upon our definition of soul," he said in the Forum. "If, when we speak about the human soul we mean the human intelligence, we must admit that if there is any evidence on one side or the other worthy of consideration by the scientific mind, it is in favor of the theory of immortality."

"We really haven't any very great amount of data on this subject, and without data how can we reach definite conclusions? But all we have favors the idea of what religionists call 'the hereafter.' Science, if it ever learns the facts, probably will find another and more definite descriptive term. We must learn a great deal more than we now know before we can make positive statements without running the risk of looking foolish in the light of subsequent events and discoveries."

From this it is evident that Edison's approach to religion is different from that of the religionists.
He wants data. He is still the materialist. Mathematics, he warns, is the only exact science we possess. Approaching the idea of spiritual immortality he immediately goes for a simile to a most material thing, the Sequoia tree of California, which may still live at the age of 4000 years.

"That doesn't mean immortality," he adds, "but 4000 years is more than 3300 years farther toward immortality than human of citizens and, if properly defended, could not be successfully prosecuted, thereby reflecting discredit on the District Attorney.

feet, all are equally served by verified your every claim. I need a true laxative to avoid constipation. Do you advise pills or liquid?"

Answer: All letters published are guaranteed genuine. I recommend, Cadoma-Royal Pills are best suited to relieve constipation of children or adults.

S. A. G. asks: "I am weak, nervous, run-down and pale, and am sure I need a good tonic. What do you advise?"

Answer: The fine tonic properties and digestive aid in Cadoma-Royal Tablets should be adapted for such condition due to an anemic undernourished blood stream. Take regularly for several weeks or months as your case requires.

N. B. R. asks: "I want medicine to aid the kidneys and bladder.
Has your frequently backache. My night's rest is disturbed because of irritation or pressure of the bladder."

Answer: I suggest you use Balmwort tablets, which are exceptionally effective in relieving and overcoming such symptoms.

R. G. R. asks: "Can you advise a laxative which will tend to relieve a case of piles?"

Answer: If you have this trouble, because of constipation, I advise that you take Sulphur tablets. They contain purified sulphur, cream of tartar and mild herbal ingredients which act most favorably in congested conditions.

N. C. K. asks: "Will you kindly tell me a remedy for severe headache, due I think to neuralgia."

Answer: Obtain Sulphur tablets and take as directed. These tablets do not depress the heart and are useful in relieving acute, severe, pain due to disturbances.

Mrs. L. R. C. asks: "Will you tell me of a cough remedy safe to give my children?"

Answer: I recommend Mentho-Laxene, as it contains no opiates or chloroform and is quite inert. Children take it willingly, as the taste is pleasant.

NEW JERSEY MAYOR GETS YEAR IN PRISON

Pleas in His Behalf by Friends Obtain Reduction of Sentence in Liquor Case.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Ex-Mayor Henry J. Wissel of Edgewater, N. J., sentenced to a year and a day in the Atlanta Penitentiary after his conviction in the Eker liquor conspiracy case, would have received a sentence of two years had it not been for the personal pleas of Edgewater citizens and a statement by Wissel himself. Federal Judge I. M. Meekins said, in imposing sentence, Wissel resigned after his conviction.

Wissel was convicted of conspiracy to conceal and dispose of liquor smuggled into the United States on the ship Eker.

James A. Dinan, his Chief of Police, was also sentenced to the Atlanta prison for a year and a day yesterday. Wissel and Dinan were released on bail pending appeal.

Cecil and Clifford Kinder and Dewitt Turner, Chicagoans, and owners of the Eker, who pleaded guilty, were also sentenced to Atlanta. Clifford Kinder receiving six months and the other two, 18 months each.

Suspended Sentence for Two.

Detectives Alexander F. Flannery and Edward Pickering received suspended sentences of nine months each in the county jail, with instructions to report once a month to a probation officer.

Judge Meekins said the conviction of the Eker conspirators showed how willing New York citizens are to uphold the law. The Judge is from Elizabeth City, N. C.

"There has been so much talk about 'wet' New York," he said. "That people outside might get the erroneous impression that the city is so wet its clothes won't dry on the line."

Judge Meekins said he had fully intended to impose the maximum penalty of two years on Wissel. He said that a prominent New Yorker, whose identity he could not reveal but whose judgment was unquestionable, made a plea for Wissel, and that this plea and the petitions of Edgewater residents induced him to reduce the sentence.

Wissel, after 14 years as Mayor of Edgewater, announced his resignation Tuesday night, protesting his innocence.

The indictment of Wissel and 22 others for conspiracy to land $2,000,000 worth of liquor from the Eker last April, and the alleged $40,000 bribery of agents and police were the outcome of eight months' investigation.

Accused of Taking Bribe.
The Eker was seized in the Hudson River near Yonkers with her tanks filled with liquor. Wissel was charged with having received $20,000 in cash for permitting the boat to land her cargo. It was said that $50,000 to $60,000 was distributed among officials of Edgewater.

Three of the defendants pleaded guilty. Cecil Kinder became a witness for the Government, and testified to the distribution of "hush" money. Turner testified that he paid Wissel $22,500 in cash and gave him 400 cases of whisky and five of alcohol to permit the landing of the cargo.

Negro Who Paid $75 for Tin Badge Turned Over to the Psychiatric Clinic.

Willie May, 21-year-old Negro, paid $75 to a Kansas City correspondence school for 25 lessons in "How to Be a Detective." Recently he received a diploma and a tin badge stamped "Detective" so he quit his job in a packing plant in order to frequent Police Headquarters and the Federal Building to "touch up" to police work.

He walked into a pawnshop at 1701 Market street, Tuesday, flashed his tin star and announced he wished to purchase some "police credentials." Two real city detectives who chanced to be in the shop placed him under arrest for impersonating an officer. Today May was arraigned in Police Court and Judge Rosecan referred his case to the Psychiatric Clinic.

$8000 EXPLOSION VERDICT

Woman Telephone Operator Sued Laclede Gas Light Co. for $50,000.

A jury in Circuit Judge Ross-Kopf's court yesterday returned a verdict of $8000 in favor of Mrs. Vivian Rotermund, 26 years old, 7818 South Broadway, against the Laclede Gas Light Co. because of injuries suffered in an explosion at the Laclede Co. building, Eleventh and Olive streets, Oct. 8, 1925. The explosion occurred in the basement and shook the whole building.

Five persons were killed and many others were injured. Mrs. Rotermund was employed as telephone operator by the company and was working on the eighth floor when the explosion occurred. She was rendered unconscious by falling debris striking her and suffered internal, as well as other injuries, she alleged. Mrs. Rotermund sued for $50,000. About 25 other suits growing out of the explosion are pending.

Awarded $12,500 for Broken Leg.
Damages of $12,500 for a broken leg were awarded to Edward Bilyeu, 60 years old, of Caseyville, against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad yesterday in City Judge Cook's court in East St. Louis. Bilyeu was injured when he leaped from a handcar when it rounded a curve near Caseyville and he saw a Burlington engine approaching on the same track. Attorneys for the railroad contended the case belonged before the Industrial Commission created under the Illinois workmen's compensation law.

FOES OF GASOLINE TAX INCREASE BILL HEARD

Urge Unfavorable Report on $2,800,000 Country "Pork Barrel" Measure.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 10.—Defeat of a "pork barrel" road fund bill, introduced in the House by the "farm bloc," which would levy an additional tax of 1-cent a gallon on gasoline, to be apportioned to the counties for dragging and maintenance of local county and township roads was urged by representatives of the cities and automobile organizations in a hearing last night before the Public Roads and Highways Committee.

The measure would require the principal cities and two or three of the larger counties, which now pay the major part of the 2-cent a gallon tax, to contribute to the local road bills of the rural counties. The cities would be required to pay the additional tax, but would be excluded from participation in distribution of the money collected.

Would Raise $2,800,000 a Year.

Approximately $2,800,000 a year in revenue would be raised by the 1-cent tax, based on gasoline tax collections last year. The bill provides this money would be apportioned to the 114 counties in the ratio that the mileage of local roads in each county bears to the total mileage of county roads in the State.

The county courts, in turn, would apportion a county's allotment to the townships in the ratio of the mileage of roads in a township to the total mileage in the county. The money would be spent by township officers.

State highways are excluded from the calculations and none of the money would go to State road maintenance.

John Malang of Joplin, representing the Automobile Club of Missouri, urged the committee to make an unfavorable report on the bill.

He said it would not accomplish the purpose desired by its author and would be waste of money.

Proposal Called Unfair.

Malang asked why the counties did not take steps to authorize voting of county gasoline taxes by counties desiring the additional revenue.

"It is unfair to ask communities elsewhere in the State to assist in maintaining the local roads of a county," Malang said. "The State should take care of the State roads and the local subdivisions should take care of their local roads without asking others to assist in paying their bills. The cities have done their full share toward financing the State highway system and are entitled to fair treatment from the State."

George W. Catts, representing the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, said it was unfair to levy an additional tax on the cities to pay for maintenance of township roads throughout the State.

Supporters of the bill admitted the cities would derive nothing from it except tax receipts, but said they believed it was the best method of raising additional money for road work in their counties and declared farmers were strong for the measure.

S. J. Galloway of Howell County said his county did not have sufficient funds to maintain its local roads and the approximately $24,000 a year it would derive from the bill would enable it to do the work.

Among other speakers who urged passage of the bill were State Senator W. M. McMurray of Rutledge, and Representatives W. L. Steiner of Franklin County; Clement Jones of Pettis County; George O. Reed of Greene County; L. B. Day of Worth County; A. J. Crawford of Macon County; and Fred Lawrence of Holt County.

The committee will hold another hearing on the bill Wednesday.

REBELLIOUS DATU GIVES UP

MANILA, P. I., Feb. 10.—After being chased through the jungles for a fortnight by the Philippine constabulary, Datu Tahil, rebellious Mohammedan chieftain, drove into Jolo in a Ford Wednesday and surrendered to Gov. Carl M. Moore and Col. Luther B. Stevens. Another flivver contained his harem and men followers. Tahil is in jail and has about 16 years to serve for sedition and robbery, if the Government cancels his parole.

Datus of Lanao province conferred with Governor-General Wood today, asking for justice and better administration for Mohammedans.

Navy Has No Funds for Cup Races

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Lack of funds will prevent the Navy from entering the 1927 Schneider cup races in Italy, Secretary Wilbur announced today. The United States already has won two legs out of three necessary for permanent possession of the trophy, but Italy interrupted its successful victories when Mal de Bernard won the race at Norfolk, Va., last November, crashing a new world's seaplane speed record. The race will be held at Venice, Italy.

EVOLUTION UP IN MINNESOTA

Proposed State Bar Opposed as "Monkeyphobia" by Theologians.
By the Associated Press.
ST. PAUL, Feb. 10.—Dr. W. B. Riley, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Minneapolis, proposes enactment of a law by the current Legislature to banish evolution from the classroom, and the International Theistic Society, headed by Dr. Arvid Reuterdaht of St. Paul, has taken the field against what it calls "monkeyphobia."
The measure Riley urges would make it unlawful for "any teacher or instructor in any public school, college, State teachers' college or University of Minnesota, supported in whole or in part by public education funds, to teach that man descended or ascended from a lower order of animals." It would fine transgressors $50 to $200.
Bishop Charles Edward Locke of the Methodist Episcopal Church denounced the movement, declaring himself no "funda-monkeyist."

HEINE BOILER CO. SOLD TO NEW YORK CONCERN

St. Louis Plant to Continue in Operation With Present Officers.

The plant of the Heine Boiler Co., 3319 Shreve avenue, will remain in operation, and probably will be enlarged and improved, under the ownership of the International Combustion Engineering Corporation of New York. The purchase of the St. Louis plant by the Eastern holding corporation was announced exclusively in late editions of last evening's Post-Dispatch.
C. R. D. Meier, president, and the other officers and directors will continue, it was stated at the company's office today. The sale was a transfer of the company's capital stock, minority holdings having been represented by President Meier. The capital stock is 50,000 shares, no par value. Capital and surplus, as stated by the president, is $2,500,000. The purchase price was not made known.
The Heine Boiler Co. has about 200 employees at its St. Louis plant and a somewhat smaller number at the branch plant in Phoenixville, Pa. It manufactures boilers for power plants, office buildings and steamships.

The officers, besides the president, are: Vice presidents, E. R. Fish and F. O. Palmeyer; secretary, A. H. Schaum; auditor and assistant treasurer, E. P. Douglas; directors, President Meier, E. G. Curtis, E. R. Fish, Harry Seidlin and R. King Kauffman.
The International Combustion Engineering Corporation is a Delaware organization, incorporated in 1920 as a holding company. It owns practically all the stock of the Combustion Engineering Corporation, and of the Underfeed Stoker Co., Ltd., an English company. The English company, in turn, owns one-third of the capital stock of the Societe Anonyme des Foyers Avenir, matiques of Paris, France, with factory at Roubaix, France. The English plants are at Derby and Barrow and the company's plants in this country, prior to the acquisition of the St. Louis concern, were in Monongahela, Pa., Port Carbon, Pa., East Chicago, Ind., and Chicago.
The stock of the corporation was shown at the end of 1925 as 444,147 shares of no par value, listed in the company's financial statement as having a value of $19,720,842.
G. E. Larnard is president of the International, and Wilfred R. Wood of London is one of the vice presidents.

GIRL, 19, JUMPS FROM WINDOW AND IS HURT IN 30-FOOT FALL

Recently From Germany. •
Favored American Men Leaped When Brother Called.
Miss Mary Kruse, 19 years old, of 3155 Brighton avenue, is at City Hospital with an injury to the spine, suffered last night when she leaped from a second-story window at the home of Frank J. Dorre, 505 Oakwood avenue, Webster Groves, where she had been employed as a cook Tuesday.
Questioned by Mrs. Dorre yesterday, Miss Kruse admitted she was not an experienced cook, and went to her room. Her brother, Max Kruse, 27, of the Brighton avenue address, called at 9 p. m. and Mrs. Dorre told Miss Kruse a man had called to see her. After Mrs. Dorre left her, Miss Kruse jumped out of the window, falling 30 feet. She went to the office of a neighboring physician, who took her to the Dorre home.
Before she left Germany last December to come to this country, Miss Kruse was warned to "watch out for those American men. She is thought to have misunderstood the situation when told a man had called to see her, not knowing it was her brother.

$3000 FIRE AT GROCERY FOLLOWS THREAT IN LETTER

Flames Caused by Explosion Cause Investigation by Police.
Fire, following an unexplained explosion in the grocery and butcher shop of Sam George at 841 North Ninth street, at 7:15 o'clock last night, caused damage estimated at $3000 to the building and stock.
George declared he had received several threatening letters during the 14 months he had been in business there, warning him to quit or there would be trouble. He said he had no enemies and could not understand these threats. No gasoline, which might have exploded, was kept in the store, he added. His loss is insured.

The accident happened at Harbor Station, St. Louis county. T. E. Riley, living near Eldon Station, was the only one of 13 passengers injured. He was thrown from his seat and bruised. Making Many Books

—JOHN S. NEWMAN—

AFTER SEVENTY YEARS

CARSON'S OWN STORY OF HIS LIFE. Edited and Published by John S. Newman. The Carson history is familiar to the "Life and Adventures of Kit Carson" by the famous

Much of the narrative is in Kit's own language, and one wishes that Mrs. Peters had never thought it advisable to correct the fine old fellow's delightfully improper English. Kit was a gentleman by instinct, but he was not a Chesterfield.

Miss Grant, who is a member of the famous artist colony at Taos and a painter of distinction, is to be congratulated upon her enterprise. As author, editor and publisher, she now has on her list four interesting books, the three others being concerned with the Taos country and the Taos Indians.

The $20,000 cash prize, offered by the True Story Magazine, has been won by H. M. Sutherland of Clintwood, Ky., with a story entitled "Stronger Than Death." The winning tale appears in the March number of that magazine. Interwoven with the story is a prize, one of the largest cash sums ever paid in a story contest. Mr. Sutherland said: "Stronger Than Death" is an account of the tragic experience that befell a dear friend of mine when she, a girl of culture and refinement, accepted a position as teacher in a mission school deep in the fastness of the Cumberland Mountains. I have set it down so nearly the way she herself told it to me that I feel justified in presenting it as coming from her own lips.

Arrangements have been made by Harpers for the publication of "Pages From My Life," by Feodor Chaliapin, the great Russian opera singer and actor. The translation has been authorized by Chaliapin and is edited by Miss Katherine Wright. The volume will be illustrated with photographs and facsimiles of letters and sketches.

Ellen du Bois Taylor, a native of Dakota, and a protégé of Ford Madox Ford, who published her first short story in his own magazine, Parnassus, has been living in America with a short story entitled "Nostalgia," in the February Harper's Magazine. The editors of the magazine say that they consider Mrs. Taylor an exceptionally brilliant writer. Harpers will publish her first novel this spring.

"Palimpsest," the novel by the Imagist poet, H. D., has been widely advertised by reviewers as being practically unintelligible. Accordingly, the first edition sold in less than two months.

In answer to the ever-increasing demand for the works of John Galsworthy, Charles Scribner's Sons are about to publish his novel, "The Forsytes," in a set to be sold by subscription only. This set will be called The Devon Edition, and will be illustrated with frontispieces from interesting photographs and with several facsimiles of the author's manuscript pages.

Twichell, president of the Alumnae Association, and Miss Counselor of the faculty, will receive Miss Hope Pangman is president of the Junior class and Miss Marion Bischoff of the seniors.

Prunes are rich in fruit sugar—sugar in its most easily digested form. 2. Prunes are more than 60% carbohydrates—the part of any fruit that yields energy. 3. Pound for pound, prunes yield more energy than most foods—meats, cereals and vegetables. HEALTH VALUE: California Prunes benefit the body in the well-balanced meal. 4. Their minerals act as a tonic, for they check the "acidity" of other foods. 5. Doctors recommend them as a mild, effective fruit laxative. 6. Prunes contain health-giving vitamins.

Prunes Victory as welcome as sunshine at breakfast. "PRUNES," you may say, "are a standard dish in my family. I thought everyone knew how to serve them." Here is your chance to win the prune contest! Put your reasons for serving prunes into a letter. Tell why you eat them: They yield generous energy. They are economical. The doctor may have prescribed them. Tell how you eat them: Describe the delicious prune dishes you prepare for luncheon and dinner, as well as for breakfast. The facts that explain the good habit of eating prunes are the facts that will win the contest! There are 141 cash prizes—a chance for everybody. Write your letter today. And just for you, an enthusiastic user of California Prunes, here is a new recipe. It was prepared by a famous cook: Every California Prune is plump, and tender. All its richness and sweetness brought out by sunny California days. Selected. Graded as to size. Packed scientifically and shipped at once to your grocer.

PRUNES VICTORY Wash a pound of medium-sized prunes. Place in casserole or earthen jar, cover with a quart of water and add a small piece of stick cinnamon, one cupful sugar and a clove. Place in the oven and simmer at very low temperature. Add half a teaspoonful vanilla. Cook, chill, strain and use the liquid for breakfast. Serve the prunes with cream for luncheon.

California Prunes may be used in many ways at many meals. You'll enjoy experimenting with them in all your cooking. They add a welcome touch of the unusual to every kind of dish—salads, desserts, pies, cakes. Give them to the children in place of heavy sweets or candies. Buy them and cook them three pounds at a time. Store them in glass jars, always ready for use.

$3000 ESTATE TO FAMILY DESERTED 26 YEARS AGO

Thomas Moyland Hennessey, Former Canadian Official, Eloped to U. S. With Stenographer.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 10.—A court decree has been filed here awarding the $3000 estate of Thomas Moyland Hennessey, educator and once chief architect of the Ontario Department of Public Works, Toronto, to his wife and two children, deserted 26 years ago. As Thomas H. Hennessey, an insurance man, Hennessey died in Honesdale, a suburb, 18 months ago, disclosing his secret just before his death.

Hennessey, a graduate of the University of Edinburgh, eloped with his stenographer, Ruby Schryver, assuming her name. They went to Minneapolis, where Hennessey became an instructor of English at the University of Minnesota. Years later they came here with their two sons, Miss Schryver having died in 1909. Shortly afterwards Hennessey told one of his sons of his wife and children, and they informed the Register of Wills when a controversy developed over disposal of his father's estate.

Hennessey's deserted wife and children were found when pictures of him were published in Toronto. The children are Thomas Francis Hennessey of Toronto and Mrs. Marie Hennessey Melhuish of Wilton, Conn., former grand opera singer. Mrs. Hennessey lives with her daughter.

NEW METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE PROJECT APPROVED Sale of 32 Parterre Boxes Will Yield $4,640,000, Otto H. Kahn Announces.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Construction of a new Metropolitan Opera House is a certainty, according to Otto H. Kahn, chairman of the directors of the Metropolitan Opera company. He announces that directors of the Metropolitan Opera and Real Estate Co., owners of the Metropolitan Opera House, have voted unanimously for the project.

If their recommendation is supported by the stockholders, Kahn says, the new opera house should be ready for the opening of the 1929-30 season.

The location is to be in Fifty-seventh street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues. It is understood Kahn paid $2,000,000 for the site. Sale of the 32 parterre boxes would yield $4,640,000. The remaining amount of the construction cost would be obtained by mortgage.

Above the opera house proper there will be an apartment tower, mainly for studios. The auditorium is to hold about 1000 more persons than the present house, with a larger number of low and medium priced seats.

Did You Ever Take an INTERNAL Bath?

By T. A. BALLANTYNE

This may seem a strange question.

But if you want to magnify your energy—sharpen your brain to razor edge—put a glorious sparkle in your eye—pull yourself up to a health level where you can glory in vitality
—you're going to read this message
I speak from experience. It was a message just such as this that dynamited me out of the slough of dullness and wretched health into the sunlit atmosphere of happiness, vitality and vigor. To me, and no doubt to you, an internal bath was something that had never come within my sphere of knowledge.

So I went to my nearest druggist and got a booklet describing it. This booklet was named "Why We Should Bathe Internally." It was just chock with common sense and facts.

What Is an Internal Bath?

This was my first shock. Vaguely I had an idea that an internal bath was an enema. Or by a stretch of the imagination a new-fangled laxative.
In both cases I was wrong. A real genuine, true internal bath is no more like an enema than a kite is like an airplane. The only similarity is the employment of water in each case.

A hydriodic internal bath is the administration into the intestinal tract of pure, warm water purified by a marvelous cleansing tonic. The appliance that holds the liquid and injects it is the J. B. L. Cascade, which Dr. Charles A. Terrell perfected to save his own life. Now here's where the genuine internal bath differs radically from the enema.

The lower intestine, called by the great Professor Foges, of Vienna,
"the most prolific source of disease," is five feet long and shaped like an inverted U—thus J. The enema cleanses but a third of the "horseshoe"—or to the first bend.
The J. B. L. Cascade treatment cleanses it the entire length—and is the only appliance that does. You have only to read that booklet
"Why We Should Bathe Internally" to fully understand how the Cascade alone can do this. There is absolutely no pain or discomfort.

led the fee on all producers, the present measure assesses it against "each marketing unit." It may be collected, in the discretion of the board, on the nulling or marketing process.

The measure also would permit loans from the stabilization fund to co-operatives without the equalization fee requirements in an effort to control surpluses, a provision which resembles the loan feature of the Fess and Tinker bills of last season.

The bill declares that the only cost to the Government shall be the expenses of the board, for which $500,000 is provided, the theory being that all other costs are to be paid out of the equalization fee.

In skeleton form the new bill is similar to the old McNary-Haugen measure, but there have been numerous changes which, it is contended, have rendered this year's plan less objectionable. Chief among these are the elimination of the "tariff yardstick" and "fair and reasonable price standard," resulting in scarcely any direct connection with the tariff except a declaration in the bill that it aims to "preserve advantageous domestic markets."

ANTI-GAMBLING RAIDS
AT MIAMI RESORTS

Officers Make Four Arrests—Find Evelyn Nesbit's Place
in Darkness.

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 10.—The fast-moving Silver Slipper Club and Hardie's Casino, famous among Florida's Southern Riviera, were raided by county officers in an anti-gambling crusade yesterday.

Authorities interpreted the activities as the beginning of a more vigorous movement against such gaming. Six arrests were made and an array of gambling devices seized.

The third place visited was the Evelyn Nesbit Supper Club, newly opened at Hialeah by the former wife of Harry K. Thaw, but the nocturnal merry-making had terminated abruptly and the club was in darkness.

Roulette Outfit Taken.
The first raid was at Hardie's Casino, at Miami Beach, where Robert Carlton, J. E. Kelly, Robert Thompson and M. Fishman were arrested as operators of alleged gambling devices which were in progress and surrounded by a hundred or more players when the officers entered.

The participants complied hurriedly with the order to leave. A complete roulette outfit, a blackjack outfit, two dice games and a dice "bird cage" device were confiscated.

Guests Allowed to Go.

At the exclusive Silver Slipper, a supple captured M. E. Benson and Robert Turner as alleged operators of the gambling devices there. The raid was conducted during the height of the evening's festivities, while the orchestra was playing a "Black Bottom" number or a specialty dancer to the accompanied of cheers and applause. In the din and confusion the officers made their arrests, while astonished guests in evening clothes watched the raid.

The six men were released on bonds of $100 each, with the ad-monishment that a similar offense would prove more costly.

SENATOR WATSON
SET TAX BUREAU
ON FORD'S TRAIL

learned that Lucy had these photo-stages. Blair and his assistant, Charles R. Nash, were on the stand for a few minutes. Blair testified he had no recollection of reporting to Senator Watson following receipt of the letter, but assumed that he had done so.

He said the first intimation the Treasury department had concerning the alleged evasion of taxes by Ford and his family was a letter from Senator Watson, dated holders came to him by letters after an interview with Ford had been printed in Ford's magazine.
In this interview Ford was quoted as saying that he believed that all persons should cheerfully pay their taxes. Blair said: "Persons writing to the Treasury asserted that Ford was not living up to his remarks, he continued.

"We made a rather light investigation at the time because it was obvious that Ford could not be evading taxes on this specific sale," he explained.

Got a Rise Out of Cousins.

Blair amused the spectators who crowded the courtroom by his description of the interview with Senator Cousins in March, 1925, when he informed Cousins that the Treasury Department believed he owed $10,000,000 additional income tax for 1919.

Asked why he and Nash delivered this information personally to Cousins, Blair said: "We thought it a courtesy due to a senator. We thought if he would sign the letter to avoid the statute of limitations which would have expired in a week) we could arrange this matter without any publicity. "If Senator Cousins had signed the waiver we could have proceeded quietly and no one would have known anything about it. He would have been permitted to appear before the Treasury officials and if the assessment stuck he would have had recourse to the courts."

Events proved, however, that the officials did not know their man.
Senator Cousins went on the floor of the Senate and charged that Secretary Mellon was trying to discipline him for his investigation of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Today's revelation would indicate that Senator Watson was trying to discipline Ford for his part in the Newberry investigation.
The taxpayers rested their case at noon today and the court adjourning to Monday morning, when the Government will begin its presentation of evidence.

ST. LOUIS PICTURED AS BEST CITY IN U. S.

Roy B. Simpson Enumerates Business Activities in Which It Excels.

"St. Louis is the best city in the United States in which to live, raise a family, and make money," said Roy B. Simpson, chairman of the Civic Problems Committee, in an address before the Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

"Grand Rapids is thought of as the place where good furniture is made," said Simpson. "When our stores advertise a sale of Grand Rapids furniture, it brings a mob of buyers. I wonder how many of them know that St. Louis makes and ships to New York—every week—better furniture than Grand Rapids ships to St. Louis?"

"Some of the best dressed women of Indianapolis, Cleveland, Detroit and other cities come to St. Louis to have their gowns made by a famous tailor. How many women in St. Louis or elsewhere know that St. Louis styles are preferred by these arbiters of fashion?"

"Some of the best dressed women of Indianapolis, Cleveland, Detroit and other cities come to St. Louis to have their gowns made by a famous tailor. How many women in St. Louis or elsewhere know that St. Louis styles are preferred by these arbiters of fashion?"

folks and the rest of the country about this reference for St. Louis made goods."

"A manufacturer of fine skirts in this city does a $2,000,000 business with about 50 exclusive stores in New York, Philadelphia and other Eastern cities. Who knows about this?"

"During the last 10 years we have seen the development of national group advertising by our great industries, such as paint, brick, cement, lumber and many other necessities. We know that a large number of florists have worked together to make us 'Say it with flowers.' In a broad, national way, the iron, steel, copper, brass and other industries are working together for their common cause."

"We can and should apply this cooperative principle in the promotion of St. Louis industries. When we make this simple plan effective, nothing can keep other industries out of St. Louis. They would break through a stone wall to get in."

Simpson said an expenditure of $1,000,000, or even $2,000,000, to advertise the advantages of St. Louis, would be more than justified by resultant increases in population and industries.

ST. LOUIS TO LOSE
$1,000,000 A YEAR
IN ARMY BUSINESS

Commerce Chamber, Sen-

man Fight Removal of Quartermaster Depot.

PURCHASING DEPOT TO GO TO CHICAGO

Secretary of War Weeks Ordered Transfer in 1923
but Changed Mind, Recognizing Local Benefits.

A War Department order, effective
June 30, unless countermanded before that time, will mean the loss to St. Louis of business amounting to from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 a year. The order directs the closing of the St. Louis Quartermaster Corps Purchasing Agency at Second and Arsenal streets. All purchases, except small items for depot use, are to be made by the Chicago depot. The move is part of a general concentration of Quartermaster Corps work in New York, Chicago and San Francisco.

The Chamber of Commerce and other business organizations are protesting against the action. Senator Hawes and St. Louis Congressmen have taken up the order with the Quartermaster-General and with Secretary of War Davis, who also is a St. Louisian.

Such a protest in 1923 prevented
the removal of the Quartermaster Corps Purchasing Agency from St.
Louis to Chicago.

Same Benefits Now as in 1923.
An order for the removal was issued by John W. Weeks, then Secretary of War, but after a protest from the Chamber of Commerce, Secretary Weeks wrote to Representative Dyer: "After due consideration of the local business interests and the savings that would result to the Government, I have decided to retain at St. Louis a quartermaster corps purchasing agency to maintain business relations with the business interests of St. Louis."

St. Louis business men take the position that the saving to the Government is as great a factor now as it was in 1923. The purchases made here include subsistence and forage items for the army.

Business men have pointed out that not only is this business handled here on the most favorable terms to the Government, but that a further saving could be effected by purchasing army supplies of shoes and coal in St. Louis. The city is the greatest shoe manufacturing center in the United States, and is near the greatest coal mining region. Under the present system, by which shoes must be sent to Eastern depots for storage, St. Louis manufacturers are at a disadvantage in bidding on army shoe contracts.

Stated Reason for Change.

The announced reason for the discontinuance of the agency here is that it is in the interest of economy in purchasing, with due consideration of quality and of the transportation factor. In reaching this conclusion, no opportunity was given for St. Louis to present its side of the case.

At the Chamber of Commerce it is stated that the prospect of obtaining a reversal of the order is still uncertain. It has been reported that when Seattle recently protested against removal of its purchasing agency to San Francisco, the War Department's reply was an order to make the change forthwith, without waiting until June 30.

St. Louis coffee dealers are among those active in the attempt to obtain reconsideration of the order.

GOLFERS FIGHT AT 50 PACES,

By the Associated Press.
ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 10.—The story of a fight at 50 yards with golf clubs and golf balls came out of Howey-in-the-Hills, near here, today.

E. W. Wilson of St. Louis and T. V. McQuinn of Syracuse, N. Y., disagreed as to the number of strokes each took in making the couree. They had an argument and finally a fight. It was agreed each was to have one driver, one iron and two dozen balls. At 50 paces they were carefully prepared.
At the drop of a hat firing started.
Several shots were high and wide and then one duelist knocked his opponent down with a line shot to the shin. He could not keep his eye on the ball, however, and before he could get the range his opponent was up at him with an shots by sending a fast one to the other's ribs.

Passersby, attracted by what at first appeared to be a spirited practice session, became alarmed. Constable E. C. Scott was called. He arrived just as the iron shots began to whistle.

"Fore," shouted the constable.
The fighters paused, one with a limping stance, and the other bowed as if for a putt. Scott approached the couple, pistol ready,
and seized their weapons.
An amicable settlement was effected.

BODY PRESERVED 200 YEARS

By the Associated Press.

BUCHAREST, Feb. 10.—A glass casket to display the body of a priest, dead 200 years, has been ordered by peasants of the Cluc district. They regard the preservation of the body, around which six wooden coffins have crumbled, as a miracle.

Doctors have tried to explain to the peasant why the body is in good condition, but they prefer to accept the theory of the supernatural. To pay for the glass casket an admission fee is to be charged of those viewing the body.

Three Important Considerations for The Prospective Home Buyer

- 1-The Down Payment~
It is quite unusual for the prospective home buyer to have ready cash to pay the full purchase price. Yet, he must have a fairly sizable sum to pay immediately, as his equity. Usually, the more cash he has the better bargain he can obtain. A savings account at the Mississippi Valley Trust Company will provide you a convenient way to accumulate money for the first payment on your new home. Begin now, and save a definite sum each week.
- 2-Finding the Home~
The Mississippi Valley Trust Company maintains an active Real Estate Department. It is quite likely that it has on its offering list just what you desire. If not, it can find it for you. There is no commission charged the buyer, and no obligation is involved in permitting the Mississippi Valley to undertake to find a home that will meet your requirements.
- 3-Financing the Unpaid Purchase Price~
The Real Estate Loan Department of the Mississippi Valley Trust Company makes first deed of trust loans on improved property. Rates and commissions are most reasonable, and payments may be arranged to suit your convenience.

HUSBANDS CONFESS THEY TRADED WIVES

Death of Children in Explosion Discloses Two Pairs Lived in Same House.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PITTSBURG, Kan., Feb. 10.—The coroner's jury, which late yesterday adjourned after investigation of the death Sunday night of the two Mayberry children by dynamite, heard a strange narrative of two husbands and their wives who knew of mutual unfaithfulness for years and yet maintained a front of friendship.

The hearing was adjourned until Feb. 24, to allow Mrs. Mayberry, injured in the explosion, to recover sufficiently to testify. Her testimony would complete a quartet of "confessions" of two married couples, the Mayberrys and the Davises. It began with the confession of Mrs. Mary Davis to a series of wrongdoings with Mayberry, was carried on with the confession of Mayberry, and the confession of Mayberry to his part in the affair. Mayberry holds a good position with the Kansas Gas and Electric Co. here, and had enjoyed a good reputation.

Admits He Knew Facts.
"How long did you and the Davises live together in the same house?" asked Prosecutor Patterson. "Over a half year."

"You knew of Davis' intimacy with your wife?" "Yes, he told me."

Previously Davis had related how he confessed the relations to Mayberry, who appeared "shut" and said "He didn't think it of me (Davis)."

"You knew of the accusation of your wife that you were not the father of the youngest of your children; that you have never denied that you were a father?"

Mayberry's voice broke and he crumpled in the witness chair. He started up, saying, "I never denied that and I don't deny them now."

Love Counts Introduced.
A letter written by Mayberry to Mrs. Davis, one of a long series of love letters, some of which were mailed and some of which were put in a "love box" at the home of Mrs. T. J. Trevor, a sister of Mayberry, was read to the jury.

It contained among a mass of endearing phrases this couplet: "I ain't like Solomon, the old son of a gun; he had 700, I want only one."

"How much life insurance did your wife and children have?" asked Patterson. "My wife has a $1000 policy made out to me and a $2000 policy made out to the children."

The children had policies also.

Just before leaving the stand, Mayberry broke down again in answer to a query as to whether he intended to "tell the truth and get to the bottom of the matter."

"At the bottom of the killing, yes," he answered hoarsely. "I will do anything and ask all help to solve this terrible thing."

Plans for Divorce and Wedding.
Mrs. Davis is a short woman, dark, wears glasses and is not particularly attractive. She told of meeting the Mayberrys four years ago. In February, 1935, her husband admitted over-friendliness with Mrs. Mayberry, she said. She told of a meeting of the two couples in which Mrs. Mayberry informed her husband of the doubtful paternity of one of the children.

She told of making trips to Oklahoma with Mayberry, and of having associated with him continuously in the last two years.

"We were planning to get married," she said, "as soon as Mrs. Mayberry would let him have a divorce."

Friday night, she brought engagement and wedding rings for me. They were too small, so he took them back to be enlarged."

Portions of Love Letter.
Sections from a letter written by Mrs. Davis to Mayberry last spring were read as follows by Mr. Patterson:

"Darling Love: I saw Mrs. M. last night and she was so spiteful. If no one had been around I would have beat her, so no one would have known her. And sometime when I am prepared something will happen and I don't care what they do with me."

"Oh darling, I have nothing to live for. You have your children, and better tell Mrs. M. to rush her trial so we can be married, the old—"

"Darling, surely if I die I will find my reward in heaven. I guess you doubt me, but I don't. But I don't—Your only love."

The prosecutor asked Mrs. Davis to detail her actions Sunday.

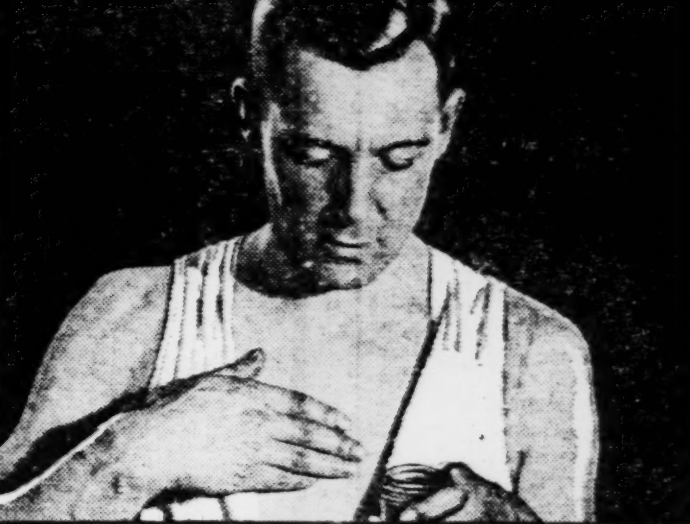

She said she and her husband went to Sunday school in the morning, took a drive in the afternoon, went to church at night and retired. They were arrested at their home after the explosion late Sunday night.

After Mrs. Davis told her story her husband took the stand, admitted having had relations with Mrs. Mayberry.

New way eases congestion—fights "flu" causes

USUALLY the only medicine necessary internally, if you have a cold, is a good laxative. That's all. Then get a jar of Congesto-Rub at your druggist. Rub it vigorously on your neck and well over your chest. Wrap your chest with a piece of hot flannel. Then place a teaspoonful of Congesto-Rub in steaming water, in a glass or bowl, and inhale deeply through a paper cone of its now highly medicated steam.

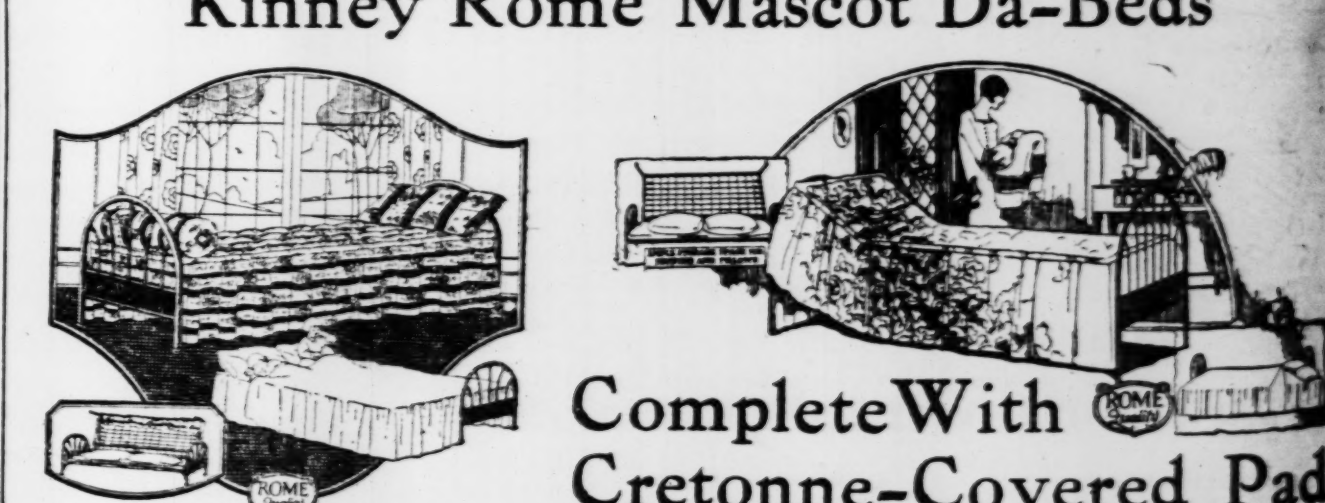

Do this tonight and you'll be a different person tomorrow. This method relieves congestion—fights "flu," bronchitis, combats coming pneumonia. It is a virtually instant cold relief. Be sure you get genuine Congesto-Rub. Because it fights the causes of bronchitis, pneumonia, "flu," etc., it is now used in place of old-time "rub" and poultices. Obtain any drug store. Large jar costs only a few cents.

Billikens Leave On Northern Trip

St. Louis U. Men Will Play Loyola in Chicago Tonight, De Paul Tomorrow.

Coach "Squinty" Hunter led his St. Louis University basketball men out of town last night for a three-game road trip. Loyola University will be met tonight in Chicago. De Paul University tomorrow in Chicago and Evanston College at Evanston, Ind., Saturday night. Eight players were taken by Hunter.

The team will be the last road trip of the year for the Billikens, who will return to play their second contest against Washington University next Tuesday. The first victory of the season is as far away, apparently, as the first loss, but the Billikens continue to play away with an unflinching courage, in spite of the lack of reward.

The players making the trip are: Pope, Strong and Walsh, forwards; Denvir and Riley, centers; and Knight, Casey and Haskamp, guards. De Paul and Evanston have beaten the Billikens this season but the meeting with Loyola is the first of the campaign.

WRAY'S

Wonders Never Cease.

COBB has just signed a contract calling for $75,000 for a year, according to four-tenthed information received here. Coming at the end of a diamond career that has lasted 22 years, this is truly amazing. Cobb's usefulness is admittedly diminished. He has slowed up in speed, restricted in covering territory, is not hitting within many points of his old form and unquestionably has lost the ambition that once made him a terror on the paths.

Admittedly, too, he is in the game to play one year in the American League in order the more effectively to make the Johnson organization remove the stigma left by the resignation it once forced on Cobb.

Connie Mack, who should be properly named "Connie" Mack, must see his way clear to $75,000 in return. Connie separates himself from a dime about as readily as a 2-year-old kid parts with an all-day sucker.

Of course Cobb is still a great hitter than 92 out of 100 ball players and can still help the Athletics' punch. He can also lure the dollars at the gate, and that probably is where Connie expects to profit.

The Browns could have used Cobb, but the $75,000 bid by the local club seemed ample to land him. That he would have been worth $75,000 to the Browns seems to say the least doubtful.

Mr. Richards Exposed.

VINCENT RICHARDS' exposure of tennis amateurs appears to be a dud. The exposure consisted in calling attention to the fact that Bill Tilden is still an amateur, although he managed to do so in a comfortable threefold due to tennis. So have they all, Vinnie hints.

These matters have been discussed interminally and widely in the past when Richards himself was under fire. It has been pointed out many times that a top rank tennis player can spend his winters in California and Florida, his springs on the Riviera and at Wimbledon and his summers on the Atlantic seaboard without ever having to spend a cent of his own money. In fact, he can finish with enough extra "expense" allowance to keep him in spending money for a while.

Richards is right, in so far as the whole situation is a travesty on amateurism. But he is several years behind hand with the disclosure.

They Put One Over.

IT is quite possible that Richards is peeked at the United States Lawn Tennis Association's failure to rank him first on his showing last season.

There may be occasion for some soreness. In fact the U. S. L. T. A., in its desire to switch the "pro" movement, went out of its way to swat Richards. It even was guilty of a trifling bit of sharp practice to get at Richards.

Lawsuit for $3 Over Prices at Rosenberg Fight

Sports Followers to Test Limit on Charges When No Title Is at Stake.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—An organization known as the Sports Followers of Fair Play League is suing everyone connected with the Rosenberg-Graham fight for $3; the Herald Tribune says today.

The league charges that the bout was advertised as a bantamweight championship contest at Madison Square Garden last Friday night, and in reality no title was at stake. A rule of the New York Boxing Commission limits the cost of fight tickets to $7 except in the case of championship contests, when $10 tickets are sold.

Rosenberg, scheduled to defend his bantam title against Graham in a 15-round match, vacated the championship according to his articles of agreement for the fight when he weighed in at 122½ pounds before the match. Graham, weighing 117½, was beaten decisively.

Papers in the suit will be served on Tex Rickard, president of the Garden; John S. Hammond, vice president; Boxing Commissioners Farley, Brower and Muldoon; and the boxers and managers, the Herald Tribune says.

The Boxing Commission already is investigating reports of a private agreement between the boxers, Harry Segal, manager of Rosenberg, and William Parr, manager of Graham, have been asked to appear before the commission tomorrow.

The commission will delve into a rumor that Graham, who was to have received 12½ per cent of the receipts, actually received but 5 per cent, and was required by a private agreement to turn over 7½ per cent to Rosenberg.

WESLEYAN TAKES FIRST PLACE IN LITTLE 19

PEORIA, Ill., Feb. 10.—A persistent offensive during the first portion of the second half enabled Illinois Wesleyan to gain an overwhelming lead on Bradley here last night which the Techmen were unable to overcome despite a brilliant finishing effort. Wesleyan won, 26 to 23, thereby taking the lead in the Little Nineteen basketball race with six wins and one defeat.

saw Stribling eliminate himself as well as Huffman.

There may be another jenson in this series—that is the fourth one scheduled to which Paulino Usadun meets Knute Hansen. Paulino is totally unknown and Hansen is an uncertainty.

But the next elimination, between Jack Delaney and Jim Maloney on Feb. 18, leaves no doubt as to what will take place. Here are two ads who can fight and hit and pull the stuff that ringers like.

Also, the fight of March 3 between Mike McTigue and Jack Sharkey, has plenty of color. Rickard in announcing that the winners of these two fights will meet in the Yankee Stadium in a semifinal indicates Tex looks for the real challenger to emerge from this affair. That is, unless the doubtful Dempsey decides at the last moment to step into the picture again.

What Ball Clubs Earn.

28 International Leaguers Graduate to Major Leagues

Seven of These Come to St. Louis, Three Joining the Browns and Four the Cardinals, This Spring—Four Had Batting Records Above .300 Mark.

By Herman Wecke.

No fewer than 28 players who started with International League clubs in 1926, will try for berths with major league teams, when the spring training jaunts are started within the next two weeks. Of the list of International Leaguers, who are "coming up" a dozen are pitchers, while 14 athletes batted better than .300 in 1926.

Of the athletes from the Tool circuit, seven will strive for places with the St. Louis clubs. The Browns will try out infielders Miller and Mullen and Pitcher Stewart, while the Cardinals will have outfielders Clark and Roetger and Pitchers Dyer and Miller. Clark had the best batting record, swatting .354 and smashing out 31 homers, the greatest number for any of the International League graduates. Mullen hit .357, Miller .345 and Roetger .304.

However, official records indicate that the pitchers coming up have a tougher job. Between them the Cardinals have won 12 and dropped 15 with the Syracuse club. He permitted 3.84 earned runs a game while toiling in 204 innings.

Tough on Lee Fohl.

That Daniel Phillip Howley, new manager of the Browns, who chaperoned Toronto to a pennant, had a wonderful twirling staff and that Lee Fohl, his successor, will have a tough job in 1927, is evinced from the statistics.

Three members of Howley's staff graduated. They are: Left-hander Stewart, who comes to the Browns, and Carroll and Doyle, who go back to the Detroit club. Between them the three won 54 games in 1926, while losing but 24, a winning percentage of .692. Taking three pitchers with records of this kind from the roster of a pennant winner makes it mighty tough for the succeeding manager. The three, in addition to being great winners, ranked well up in efficiency.

Stewart, the new Brownie, pitching in 253 innings, stopped his opponents with 84 earned runs, an average of 2.95 a game. He won 18 and lost nine contests. The only hurler to come up who had a better earned run mark was Moss, who goes to Brooklyn. Moss, however, worked in but 99 innings, while winning seven games and losing one and holding the opposition to 2.70 earned markers.

Dyer Had Fine Record.

Dyer, pitching 166 innings for Port Clinton's club, won 12 games and lost six and stopped the enemy with 55 runs, or 3.03 each nine frames. Cantrell, a Brooklyn addition, was the "iron man," laboring in 308 innings and permitting 3.67 earned markers a game.

In the list of players scheduled for tryouts in the majors are several who have been up before. Included in this lot are Fonseca, former Red and Phillie, who swatted 381 and comes up for another trial with Cleveland; Nick, ex-Robin and Brave, who has been shared by Washington, and Pitchers Decatur and Ferguson.

Joe Boley, the Baltimore star, who is down to play shortstop for the Athletics this season, hit .206 in 145 games with Jack Dunn's aggregation.

SAYS SMOKE ABATEMENT WILL SAVE $15,200,000 ANNUALLY

William G. Christy Declares Campaign Will Eliminate 80 Per Cent of Damage.

Work planned for the next three years with a $250,000 fund about to be sought by the Citizens' Smoke Abatement League should reduce by 80 per cent the estimated cost of $19,000,000 a year which St. Louisans bear because of various losses and damage due to smoke.

William G. Christy, executive secretary of the league, told the West End Business Men's Association at the Melbourne Hotel last night.

More than 20,000 persons visited the abatement exhibit of the league at the Women's National Exposition at the Coliseum, he said, and the many requests from organizations for antismoke speakers and the thousands of inquiries for furnace firing instruction, he declared, showed conclusively that St. Louis was "ready and eager to enter into a vigorous city-wide educational campaign for smoke abatement."

$2,600,000 Extra Sales for St. Louis Furniture Dealers

When the cold figures, 30,000 more St. Louis daily circulation and 80,000 more St. Louis Sunday circulation of the Post-Dispatch are considered as figures, their full significance is likely to be lost. It is only when you consider what they mean in terms of greater retail sales for St. Louis stores that you appreciate their tremendous importance to St. Louis retailers.

The 30,000 extra families in Greater St. Louis reached by the daily Post-Dispatch, in excess of any other newspaper, means over two million dollars greater furniture market for St. Louis retailers annually.*

The 80,000 extra families in the St. Louis retail district reached by the Sunday Post-Dispatch, in excess of the other newspaper, means approximately six million dollars greater furniture sales for St. Louis retailers annually.

Can any furniture dealer afford to miss such a tremendous extra market for his store?

The total annual retail purchases made by the 30,000 extra families, reached by the daily Post-Dispatch, are approximately sixty million dollars. The total retail purchases made by the 80,000 extra families, reached by the Sunday Post-Dispatch, are approximately one hundred and sixty million dollars.

Greater circulation figures alone do not tell the whole story of why the Post-Dispatch is the most powerful selling medium for advertisers. The influence on retail sales of every copy of the Post-Dispatch in the homes of Greater St. Louis is far greater than that of any other St. Louis newspaper.

For years, shopping at home—in the family circle—through the pages of the Post-Dispatch has been a fixed habit with St. Louis families, both because evening provides the time to read the store news, and because they know that all the worthwhile news of all the worthwhile stores is always in the

Angelo Patri

Now we turn to father and mother and for the first time in all our lives know what we meant in terms of pain and fear and anxiety and love and thrills and smiles and tears. We know now, we are grown up.

It is doubtful that without the children, we should have grown up. They are a post-graduate course in life. We review all our growth and renew it. We see new phases of it, new threats. We have with great longing to help the children do more with themselves and their talents than we have done. We would have them do more than we did.

So they become the great disciplinary force in our lives. When we would lie abed on Sunday morning, we rise to get them to church and meet them there. It would not do to set them a poor example. We are more economical than our fathers. Again we must set an example and we must provide for their future so that they will not go out into the world alone and empty handed.

We refrain from giving and teaching parties, for the children must go to sleep early and the house must be quiet. Besides, it is not wise to leave them much alone. We select our friends, our guests, our clothes, our food, we set our lives to the rhythm of their lives that we may at least be of some harm.

And with it all, while they are a rod to our backs and a correction of our evil ways, they are very valuable to our souls.

A New Mystery Thriller

By Carolyn Wells

(Copyright, 1927.)

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Death strikes GARRETT FOLSOM while bathing with a party at the Hotel Majusaca, where they had phoned in, an inquiry is begun, after a doctor, perfunctorily examining him on the beach, pronounces him dead.

Folsom's companions had been ROGER NEVILLE, MRS. BARNABY and CARMELITA VALDON. It is established that Folsom, just before his death, had been standing next to a man named BARON, known as the copper king.

Folsom's sister, ANASTASIA, is sent for in New York. Then a startling announcement is made that Folsom had been shot to death in the water. ROSS, his valet, is questioned. It would not do to set them a poor example. We are more economical than our fathers. Again we must set an example and we must provide for their future so that they will not go out into the world alone and empty handed.

Anastasia arrives and encounters Neville, who had been her associate in business.

CHAPTER 11.

"MISS FOLSOM," Neville cried. "Why are you here? Haven't you got a room yet? Come, you can go to Mrs. Valdon's apartments. You mustn't stay here—"

"Why not? Why does everybody want me to hide? I am here to investigate my brother's death. And remember, Roger Neville, as yet none of the details. I had only the telegram that set our lives to the rhythm of their lives that we may at least be of some harm.

"And with it all, while they are a rod to our backs and a correction of our evil ways, they are very valuable to our souls.

MODISH MITZI Spring Suits Have Come By Jay V. Jay

Mitzi is whirling around in a new spring suit. She's got her calendar mixed thinks Dad. "It's one of the new three piece spring suits," she exclaims. "Aren't you glad that winter is over?" Which is news to Dad. "One suit doesn't make it spring," he remarks sarcastically.

But Mitzi doesn't agree with him. Besides she has more than one spring suit. Here is another: The blouse is of a light crepe and the skirt and coat of a heavy silk. No spring flower ever bloomed more beautifully than the one on her shoulder.

Another three piece spring suit is benefited with a cardigan jacket effect. A pull over sweater goes under it of a checked design. The skirt and jacket are of the same color. "In the new spring shades," remarks Mitzi just by way of convincing Dad that spring is really here.

"But, Mitzi," points out Dad. "It isn't spring and you can't wear those things." "Oh," says Mitzi. "You mean outdoors. But technically spring comes when you can buy spring clothes." Which settles the question so far as Mitzi is concerned. Notice her hat with the back that follows the V hairline of her bob.

Widow and Spinster Queer Home Mates

Each Finds It Pretty Hard to Endure Foibles of the Other.

By WINIFRED BLACK.

MILICENT and Martha are moving together again in the same house.

Or at least they're trying to live together.

"I wonder how it's going to turn out?" Millicent is a widow and Martha is a spinster.

But the queer thing about it is Millicent acts like a spinster and Martha acts like a widow.

And nobody knows what to do.

Millicent is a highbrow and she doesn't care for the new music and the new art and she simply can't endure men at all—not unless they are middle-aged family men with grocery bills to pay and uninteresting wives to bring to dinner with them.

Martha likes men, no, she isn't a flirt and she isn't in love with anyone and doesn't want to be—but she brought up two brothers and a nephew and she's used to men in the house and she's always having the nephew or one of the brothers to dinner or asking one of their friends for Sunday night supper and listening to his story about the university and the "profs." Sometimes she even gets some of these boys to show her the pictures of the real sweetheart and then she's really happy, and all this bores Millicent to death, and she simply won't go upstairs and read or go to bed or write a letter, she just sticks around and sticks around and looks at the clock and hints about how late it is. The boys are getting so they don't like to go and see Martha any more.

And they're both bored and restless and unhappy.

Winifred Black would tell them to separate and live their own separate lives and stay friends.

That would be a real blessing—wouldn't it?

much misunderstood I waited fruits the slow years did not bear. Could I have trod the roads I glimpsed of old. I might have found the joyous heights of dream and from their summits watched the world unfold, a strange, new world of loveliness supreme. Forgive me, friend, if I have often failed to match the wonder of your thought and mood; beneath whatever blows my spirit quailed, life granted still I knew you understood.

round the excited woman. "Do hush, Roger. You only make matters worse when you talk. Now, Anastasia, dear, I'm going to put Roger out and I'm going to give you a kimono and slippers and let you relax a little. Then you must get to bed."

Anastasia Folsom gave her a comical look and then burst into a short laugh.

"I thought you knew me better!" she said. "I say, Duchess, she turned to Mrs. Barnaby, "do I look like a slippers and kimono person? Do I, now?"

And certainly the strong, forceful personality had in it no hint of the type of woman who loves to relax in that way.

"Besides," Miss Folsom went on, more quietly now, "the man from the police place is coming tonight."

"Here!" cried the Duchess. "Up here?" She whipped out her vanity case and dabbed vigorously at her powder and rouge.

"Up here or anywhere," said Anastasia, carelessly. "I don't care where, so long as I see him. There he is now, likely."

For a swift sharp rap on the door seemed to indicate an important caller.

It was Jepson, ushered up by Tuttle, and introduced by him to the group.

"I'm glad to see you, Mr. Jepson," and Miss Folsom's welcome was quite evidently sincere if not cordial. "You're the man to whom I look for help in finding the murderer of my brother."

"I certainly hope to do that," Miss Folsom.

"I don't expect you to do it. I expect to do it myself. I said I look to you for help."

A queer trait of Garrett Folsom's is revealed in the next chapter when a discovery is made in his room.

Milton Work's Bridge Pointers

THE pointer for today is: An original bid of two of a suit shows at least six cards in the suit, with ace-king-queen at the top.

From the moment that the game of auction bridge landed on these shores, the question of what should be the meaning of an original bid of two of a suit has been actively debated.

At the start the two-bid was used generally to show length without top, as distinguished from the bid of one which announced top. In spite of the incongruity of bidding one with a strong suit and two with a weak one, the bid had its advantages when used with proper limitations. These proper limitations, however, were not always recognized and two-bids were made with all sorts of worthless holdings. Innumerable other two-bid conventions, most of them unused, sprang up; so that an original bid of two soon became as meaningless as a politician's utterances on the prohibition question. Some writers then attempted to clear up the confusion by prescribing all original bids of two; but this was foolish because there could be no good reason for giving up a bid which might be used to advantage.

I therefore, proposed that the problem be solved by making an original bid of two mean one thing only, viz., ace-king-queen-x-x-x, and that proposal has been accepted by most expert players as the conventional two-bid. The adoption of this convention does not mean that two always must be bid with the holding in question; but

Parking With Peggy

"A girl's decision between marriage and a career is largely a question of making a name or acquiring one."

It does mean that when two is bid originally, the hand, whatever else it may contain, has at least six cards headed by ace-king-queen of the suit named.

Tomorrow we will consider what to bid with the following hands:

1. Sp. ace-king-queen-x-x-x. Ht. x-x. Dt. x-x. Cl. x-x-x.
2. Sp. x-x. Ht. king-x. Dt. ace-king-queen-jack-x. Cl. x-x-x.
3. Sp. king-jack-x. Ht. ace-king-queen-x-x-x. Dt. x-x. Cl. x-x.

RECIPES FROM "My Old Virginia Cook Book"

Figs—Fresh, Preserved.

TAKE fresh, ripe figs. Wash them and cut off the stems. Then weigh them, and for every pound of figs allow one-half pound of sugar. Make a syrup, using the sugar and a little water and when it boils skim it and then put in the figs. Cook until figs look clear and are done. Now put the figs in jars and if the syrup is not thick enough let it boil until it thickens. Then pour syrup over figs in jars and seal.

MEDITATIONS —OF A— MARRIED WOMAN

By HELEN ROWLAND

MODERN WOMAN IS NO JOKE!
A WOMAN can dress in 15 minutes—while a man requires 21 minutes to assemble himself and get all hitched together.

When this startling fact was recently discovered, in a Chicago contest, the last of the Thirteen Original Jokes exploded with a loud bang!

Of course, it never was TRUE—that pathetic old picture of a patient, exhausted man hanging around waiting for a woman to finish primping! Ever since Eve waited for Adam to finish eating the apple and put on his fig-leaves, woman has been a lady-in-waiting to the dawdling sex.

Why shouldn't a man take longer to dress than a woman? There he is, when he wakes up, all disoriented and with his foolish clothes lying around in sections, and everything to be fastened up, fastened on or fastened together. Enough buttons all around him to start a notion counter!

Woman, on the other hand, has done away with all buttons, hooks and patent fasteners. She slips easily into two or three garments, rolls up a couple of stockings, runs the comb through her bobbed locks—and there she is, all in ONE PIECE!

But—this isn't the only dear old joke that has died in the last few years. There is the sweet, antiquated "old maid" joke, which gasped its last when the last mid-Victorian humorist discovered that there is no such thing as an "old maid" any more.

There are splinters, oh yes! But NO woman with a boyish bob and a good job can even be THOUGHT of as an "old maid," whatever her age.

And there were all the jokes about a woman's hair—the hair that clung to a man's coat lapel; the hair that got into the butter, the hair that she "couldn't do a thing with." All those beloved little wheezes had their throats cut with the coming of the bob.

And there was the "is-my-hat-on-straight?" joke. It, too, has turned up its toes to the daisies. If any girl suspected that her hat was on STRAIGHT instead of cocked over one eye these days, she would faint.

And there was the "wife-with-the-rolling-pin" joke, which passed out when the can-opener replaced the rolling-pin.

In short, the modern woman may be a menace, a problem or a dispensation—but she is certainly NO JOKE!

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Peter's Hasty Retreat

When odds are more than you can face, Retreat is never a disgrace.

—Peter Rabbit.

PETER RABBIT had turned around two or three times before lying down. Finally he settled himself and prepared to spend the day sleeping down in the bedroom of Johnny Chuck's old house in the far corner of the old Orchard. He was just dozing off when suddenly he pricked up his two long ears. It seemed to him that he heard a pebble click against another little pebble up in that long hall. Hastily he looked up that long hall. There should have been light coming down that hall. That hall was all dark. Peter knew what that meant. It meant that somebody was in that long hall. Who it was he didn't know, but he didn't intend to stay there to find out. He remembered that that house had a back door. He found the entrance to the back hall and started up in a hurry. He started up in such a hurry that at first he didn't notice that that hall was all dark. That meant that the doorway was closed. When he understood this, Peter became so frightened that he didn't know what to do. He was trapped! Yes, sir, he was trapped! He couldn't go back because somebody was coming down the front hall. What should he do?

Now, sometimes when people are terribly frightened they do nothing at all. Sometimes it seems as if that is Old Mother Nature's way of taking care of them. Peter did nothing. He didn't try to go back and he didn't try to go ahead. He knew what was the trouble with that back door. It was closed with snow and ice. If it had been just soft snow he could have dug his way out easily. But Peter knew there was ice there and that he couldn't dig through. To try to do it would be to make a noise, and to make a noise would be to attract the attention of whoever was coming down that long hall. So Peter just squatted in the upper part of that long hall and waited and did his best to hold his breath. Peter heard a whining and a grunting. "Jimmy Skunk," said Peter to himself. Then he heard more whining and grunting. His heart gave another thump. "That's Mrs. Jimmy," thought Peter. Then he heard another voice, also grunting and whining. It wasn't the voice of Jimmy. It wasn't the voice of Mrs. Jimmy. "It must be one of the children," thought Peter. Hardly had he thought this when he heard another whine. "Goodness me!" thought Peter. "There must be two children. It must be that Jimmy, Mrs. Jimmy and two children have come down to this house. My, my, what a dreadful fix I'm in! I'm not afraid of Jimmy or any of his family outside, but I should hate to be caught by them inside, especially at this time of year. My goodness, if that isn't another voice. That makes three of the children. Let's see, how many did Jimmy here to sleep now. If Mrs. Peter could see me now she would say it serves me just right. I suppose it does. I don't see how eight skunks are ever going to crowd into that one room. I do hope none will come poking up this back hall.

None did. There was a great deal of grunting and whining and complaining as those eight skunks packed themselves into that one bedroom. How they all got in there Peter didn't understand, but they did it in there. Peter heard it all as he waited, hoping they would go to sleep and give him a chance to dig his way out. "I'm certainly in a dreadful fix," thought Peter. "I was never in a worse one. Suppose Jimmy and his family sleep for a week, the way they sometimes do. I'm hungry this very minute. I am so hungry that I don't care what I get. What'll I do if I can't get out and get anything to eat? Little Mrs. Peter was right. I ought to have stayed at home in the dear Old Briarpatch. This couldn't have happened then."
